the end of removing the United States from the court and they called attention that this could be done by a joint resolution of the house and senate, for the adoption of which only a majority in each would be necessary. Following up the announcement Senator William E. Borah, Idaho, Republican, on the radio Thursday night said he would take the case to the country, Senator James A. Reed, Missouri Democrat, another of the outstanding figures in the fight against ratification, declared that he would appeal to "the great court of American public opinion."

Preaching at 10:30.

Morris Sunday school 9:30. The gospel campaign begins Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Subject: "Religion, Education, Organization." Pontius Sunday school 9:30. Class meeting to follow. Y. P. S. C. E. at 7 o'clock.

Sunday evening at the Morris U. B. church a Gospel campaign begins and every night during the week, except Saturday at 7 o'clock. We invite the public and when present "try" to feel at home. The general subject for the series, "The Evangelism of Jesus" and each evening some aspect of that evangelism will be considered. We believe that Jesus, in His personality should be presented rather than church creed or membership. What He is and what He does. So this will be a gospel campaign. The Logan Elm Grange, the Pickaway township Farm bureau and the Pickaway centralized school are invited to attend the opening Sunday evening. "God, unseen, yet ever near, Reveal Thy presence now, While we in love that hath no fear, Before Thy glory bow."

Columbus—Six thousand Ohio farmers are expected to attend the annual Farm Week program which opens at the Ohio State university Monday, February 1. Two hundred speakers are on the program which include instructors and officials from 10 universities and officials from the federal department of agriculture.

The week will be devoted to the farmer and his interests. Other organizations such as the Ohio State Horticultural society and the Ohio Forestry association will hold meetings during the week.

Cleveland — Dramatically winding up the sensational Kirby-Cleveland discount company trial here Thursday U. S. District Attorney A. E. Bernstein accused the former head of the $40,000,000 concern of milking $4,200,000 from the firm while every stockholder in it lost money.

Cleveland—A near panic occurred in a district motion picture theater here Thursday night when a boiler in the basement exploded killing Paul Lazare, theater manager.

Lazare was standing in the lobby near a door leading to the basement when the blast occurred. He had just closed the door after attending the furnace.

The force of the explosion hurled the door against Lazare, fracturing his skull. He died an hour later.

Columbus—The matrimonial barge in which Fern Rogers, erstwhile ingenue of Ed Wynn's musical comedy, "The Grab Bag" and her surgeon husband, Dr. Roy Bowman, sailed so merrily two weeks ago, had struck a decided snag Thursday with Bowman looking from behind the bars in the city jail and Mrs. Bowman seeking annulment of her marriage.

North Baltimore—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the $100,000 North Baltimore high school during the night, leaving 400 students without a place to attend school.

Steps to rebuild the structure will be taken immediately, school board officials announced today.

Toledo—Six families were driven to the street Thursday afternoon when fire swept the upper floors of the Hollywood apartments here. Origin of the blaze has not been determined. No estimate of the damage was made.

Misses Ethel and Bernice Cook spent the day in Columbus.

Terrible Swedes of Coffeyville
Kansas, Will be Here
Next Week.

Displaying some of the best passing seen for some time on the local court, the C. A. C. quintet came out on the long end of a 61 to 26 score in the game with the Indianola A. C. at the gym Thursday night.

The first quarter of the game was close, fast and furious and indicated a close game but the locals got to going in the second quarter and kept going thruout the contest.

Even tho the score is one-sided the game was unusually interesting. The passing and team work of the club boys being almost perfect and time after time they penetrated the defense of the visitors.

Next Thursday night comes Olson's Terrible Swedes of Coffeyville, Kansas. This is a professional team from the west on its seventh tour of the country, having an enviable record of wins. From the last report received from its activities for this season we learn they have competed in fifty-two games with 46 wins to their credit. From newspaper clippings received from various cities in which they have appeared we learn that they have a good clean-cut gentlemanly organization made up of real athletes and good sportsmen with an average height of six feet and three inches.

In bringing this team to Circleville the Athletic club is giving to lovers of basket ball a real attraction and sincerely hope they will show their appreciation by turning out in full force.

MOVIE FANS READ

The motion picture has not superseded reading, as some people claim. The book most in demand is often the one whose story is being shown on the screen. The fact that a novel has been used as the basis of a moving picture play seems to be a guarantee that it is the kind of story the reader wants.

The Circleville Public library issued for home reading during 1925, 37,387 volumes, an average of over five volumes for each citizen of Circleville, and an increase of 1,445 over the number circulated in 1924.

NATAL DAY OF PATRON SAINT OF DEMOCRACY

Celebrated With Big Dinner, Much Oratory, Good Music
at Memorial Hall.

Half a thousand people were entertained at the Jackson day banquet at the Memorial hall held Thursday evening. Judge I. N. Abernethy, the dean of the Pickaway County Bar association presided at the Democratic love feast. It was the first banquet held here in twenty years.

Nearly half the audience was composed of women. The speakers of the evening were Governor Vic Donahey, Thomas E. Dye, chairman of the state Democratic central committee, Miss Florence Allen, supreme court judge, and Cyrus Locher, director of commerce.

The High School orchestra, under the direction of C. F. Zaenglein, teacher of manual training, furnished the music.

The supper was supplied by Mrs. Irwin Boggs. Rev. George Weir gave the invocation. The general committee in charge of the banquet was: Harry D. Reichelderfer, chairman; Mayor George M. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Emanuel S. Neuding, Mrs. Bernard Young and Harry W. Moore.

The menu was:
Baked Ham Escalloped Oysters
Celery Pickles
Cabbage Salad

Buttered Wheat Braed Hot Rolls
Preserves Ice Cream Coffee

System was the order of the evening at the commissary presided over by Mrs. E. S. Neuding, chairman of the luncheon committee. Everything worked with precision. It was a real job to feed five hundred people in a short space of time, but Mrs. Irwin Boggs, who as caterer has had a great deal of experience was equal to the occasion. Mrs. Neuding was assisted by Mrs. G. A. Schleyer, Mrs. J. W. Baldwin, Mrs. E. S. Roper, Mrs. C. L. Moeller, Mrs. Nan Foreman, Mrs. Cary Brown, Mrs. Robert Lilly, Mrs. Jennie Grigsby, Mrs. D. S. Dunlap, Mrs. E. J. Lilly, Mrs. George Groom and Miss Frances Schackert.

Those who acted as waitresses were: Mrs. E. S. Stephens, chairman, Mrs. Charles Fullen, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Senet Cryder, Mrs. E. E. Prose, Mrs. Harry Valentine, Mrs. Ray Reed, Mrs. Ella Lindsey, Mrs. Robert Young, Mrs. Grace Goff, Mrs. John Bell, Mrs. Elliott Crites, Mrs. Albert Gimes, Miss Mary Heffner, Miss Winifred Parrett, Misses Marie and Ruth Reichelderfer, Miss Lucile Neuding, Miss Alicia Rooney, Miss Evelyn Teegardin, Miss Martha Mary Jacob, Misses Helen and Eleanor Snyder, Miss Ruth Young, Miss Louise Rowe, Miss Ruth Cryder.

White ostensibly celebrating the anniversary of their patron saint, Andrew Jackson, Thomas Jefferson was honored and proclaimed as the first progressive and really the father of the Democratic party. The merits of Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson were lauded as men whom all Democrats can honor.

Governor Vic Donahey was introduced to the audience by the presiding officer, Judge Abernethy, as the present and next governor. Governor Donahey paid his respects to Governors Allen, Campbell, Pattison, Harmon and Cox. The governor gave his reason for vetoing bills, he claimed that the legislative ignored all his recommendations.

He did not believe in a plethora treasury, more money means more expenditure, a treasury deficit is not such a bad thing. Money is best in your pockets. I have constructed more good roads in the state for less money than any of my predecessors; the concrete and brick trusts can find no lodgment while I am governor.

SALE OF FLORIDA NEWSPAPER PROPERTY

Announcement of the sale of all the stock of the Herald Company, of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, is of interest here as there are three local stockholders who disposed of their interests. W. J. Galvin, of this city, consummated the deal and with his brother, L. S. Galvin, publisher of the Lima Daily and Sunday News, owned the majority of the stock. Dr. Russell F. Hale and Mrs. Effie G. Fisher, were members of the syndicate.

The Fort Lauderdale Evening Sentinel was purchased last February, as was the Weekly Herald. A large new building was constructed and an entirely new plant, one of the best in Florida, installed. In October the Fort Lauderdale Sunday News was established and has been a great success from its first issue, running as high as 52 pages at times. The business has grown by leaps and bounds, keeping ahead of the progress of Fort Lauderdale, which has grown from a city of 5,600 people in February last to one of 15,955 actual population. December Chamber of Commerce census carefully taken. Mr. Galvin, publisher of the paper, had also announced the establishment of the Fort Lauderdale Morning Sun, effective February 1.

W. J. Galvin, of this city, has been actively in charge of the business since its purchase last February and gathered around him a number of Wilmington and Lima people, including Miss Dora Stautner, society editor; M. J. Misner, Lima, business manager; Richard Armstrong and L. L. McLean, linotype operators, Maynard Conklin, advertising manager; Russell Merker, collector, and others.

The price obtained for the Fort Lauderdale newspaper property, while not given out, is said by R. F. Hale, one of the Wilmington stockholders, as being not far from half a million dollars and is said to have been the third largest ever paid for a newspaper in Florida, being exceeded only by the $1,200,000 paid for the Tampa Tribune recently, and the reported price of $480,000 paid by Governor James M. Cox, of Dayton, for the Miami Metropolis, now called the News.

W. J. Galvin has been asked to remain with the new owners until a suitable publisher may be obtained. He and Mrs. Galvin expect to return to their homes here in the spring, when he will resume his connection with the News-Journal, of which he is also publisher.—Wilmington News-Journal.

Mrs. Fisher was formerly Miss Effie Hunsicker, of Woodlyn, this county; her brother, Mr. Clark Hunsicker, of this city, is a stockholder in the News-Herald.

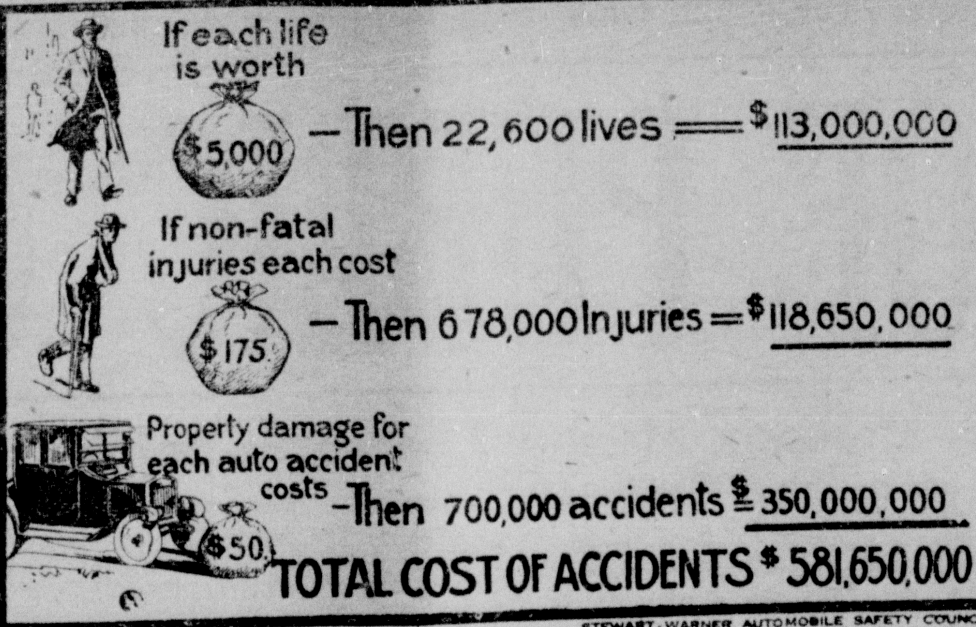

No Complainer

"Some folks complain of hard times the year 'round," said the Billville authority, "and it's all because they don't stir 'roun' when stirrin' time comes. As fer me, I've got no complaint comin', fer when they ain't no business, I whirln' in an' makes it. In spring plantin' time I sense the right weather for 'em an' when the dry drought comes they's no one kin beat me prayin' fer rain; then, if rain threatens to drown 'em out, I switches, must successful, to dry; an' when they's nothin' else a-doin' I predicts the end o' the worl', and they pay up their old debts, an' put money to circulatn', an' the people rise up an' call me blessed—that's how come you never hear me complainin'."—Atlanta Constitution.

$600,000,000 a Year Loss Caused by Auto Accidents

CLOSE to $600,000,000 a year is the annual economic loss due to automobile accidents, both fatal and non-fatal. This appalling sum is only an estimate, as no complete figures on the number of automobile accidents in the United States are available, but it has been conservatively estimated that 22,000 lose their lives each year by automobiles, and $5,000 a human life is the lowest value put on it by economists.

Of non-fatal accidents 678,000 occur annually, causing average cost of $175. Then, each accident averages $50 property damage, insurance records show. This makes the staggering total of $581,650,000 a year.

No account is taken here, points out the Stewart-Warner Safety Council for the prevention of automobile accidents, of the economic value of time lost by the injured due to delays caused by accidents or to minor property values, such as bent fenders, expense incurred while motor vehicles, particularly the commercial ones, are out of service, due to accidents. Were all these taken into the reckoning, the total figure would surely be doubled or around $1,113,750,000.

Some idea of the enormity of this economic loss, most of which is avoidable, can be gained by such relationships as these: It is twice the cash income of the 1923 wheat crop; it is equal to about one-third of the much-discussed French debt to this country; and, finally, this loss would buy the entire city of Chicago at its present realty assessment valuation.

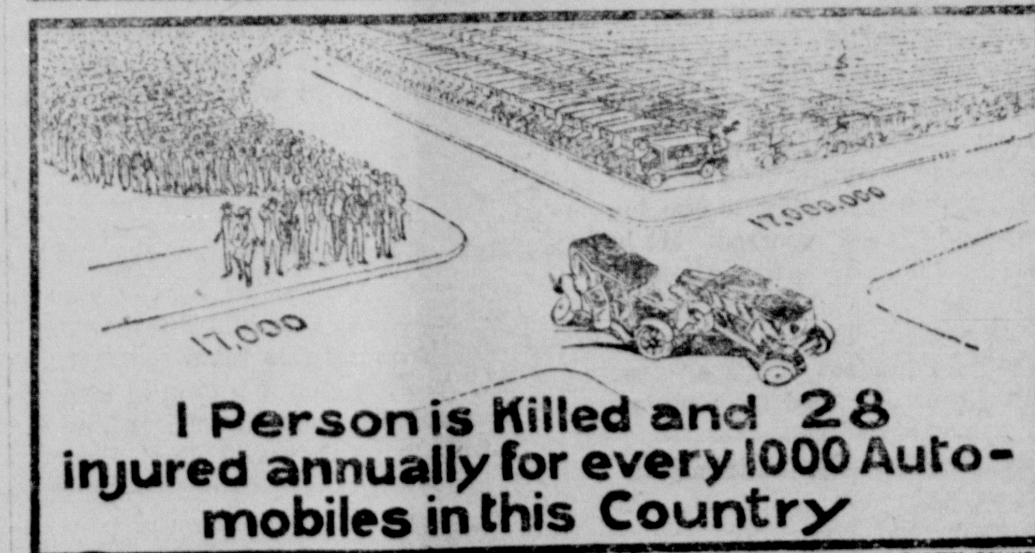

Jay Walker to Blame for Half of the Deaths by Auto

MANY a motorist whose car has figured in a fatal accident will be able to present a clear sheet to Saint Peter when his time comes, when one considers all the contributing factors outside of the driver's own fault. A total of 1,390 auto fatalities on record with the Stewart-Warner Safety Council for the prevention of automobile accidents, covering a period of seven months, shows that in 727 cases the fault was clearly the pedestrian's and cannot be put down to the driver, the weather or unavoidable circumstances.

The careless pedestrian's footsteps lead him to the grave by six distinct routes, says the Safety Council, and the most travel-worn of these is jaywalking. Sixty-two per cent of the 727 auto fatalities just referred to were due to straggling across busy streets without using the intersections. Children's playing in the streets was responsible for 31 per cent and coasting for another 3 per cent. Confusion on the part of the pedestrian, not hearing whistles and turning back in his tracks, brought about 9 per cent of these 727 deaths, while physical disability and intoxication rate 3 and 2 per cent respectively.

One Death Per 1000 Autos in a Year Is Record of U. S.

ONE out of a thousand is the relationship between the annual automobile fatalities and the number of motor vehicles in this country, according to the Stewart-Warner Safety Council for the prevention of automobile accidents, which has undertaken a strenuous campaign of automobile safety and accident prevention.

To appreciate what a vast army of killed and injured is annually conscripted by the reckless motorist and careless pedestrian, a comparison may be made with American casualties in the great war. Over a third as many people are killed annually by the automobile as there were American soldiers killed on the field of battle during the entire war, while the number injured each year is nearly three times as great as the number of our boys who were wounded throughout the war.

Distant

Nelson and Wilson were discussing relatives in general and having exhausted the general and having exhausted the close relations started to hammer merrily at the more distant family connections.

"Have you any distant relatives?" Nelson was asked.

"Yes, I have two brothers."

"What! Do you call brothers distant relatives?"

"These brothers are rich, you know?" sadly explained Nelson.

Leads All Ohio Cities In Number of Auto Fatalities.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Cleveland with a total of 229 automobile fatalities, far outranked her sister Ohio cities in 1925. Figures supplied by the U. S. census bureau for the 53 weeks ending Jan. 2, 1926, show the following number of deaths resulting from automobile accidents in other large Ohio cities: Cincinnati, 126; Columbus, 70; Toledo, 66; Akron, 51; Youngstown, 45; Dayton, 30, and Canton, 30.

All these cities exceeded their 1924 record, the census figures being: Cleveland, 220; Cincinnati, 85; Columbus, 59; Toledo, 46; Akron, 39; Youngstown, 39; Dayton, 26, and Canton, 20.

New York City led all others for 1925 with the appalling total of 1,001 automobile fatalities. Chicago had 598; Philadelphia, 306; Detroit, 297 and Los Angeles, 232.

First Iron Bridge

The first iron bridge in the world was the one at Shropshire, England, which spans the Severn river. The parts were constructed about 1778 at Coalbrookdale iron works. A remarkable feature of the undertaking is that all castings are keyed together, no screws nor welding having been used.

Slants on Life

By J. A. WALDRON

A Modern Open Sesame

THE summer season—usually a silly period—was in full swing at Harbor Bar. A dance was in progress at the new and showy home of the Strongs, who were simply well-to-do before the war, but who now were leaders of social high jinks, anxious to display their apparently endless resources.

Mrs. Manfred and Mrs. Pelham, young society women, quite intimate considering their contrasting trends—the former was frivolous and the latter sedate—were late arrivals, and dancing was in progress. They entered the ballroom together, and surveyed the moving throng.

"Who is that chap?" Mrs. Manfred asked.

"What chap, dear?" responded Mrs. Pelham. "There are quite a number of chaps in sight."

"The tall fellow dancing with Miss Strong. What a dancer! I must meet him!"

"You're actually insane over dancing! Yet I'll confess that if I were, I should look for a partner like him. But for dancing only. Otherwise not my style."

"Well, dear, I must meet him—just for a dance!" And Mrs. Manfred sought Mrs. Strong for an introduction to the marvel who had involved her imagination. She found that lady alertly watching her daughter's movements with the young man.

"Who is he?" Mrs. Manfred asked. "Hubert Bell. Seems a charming fellow, in a way, although I don't really know him," replied Mrs. Strong. "You don't mean that!"

"Candidly, my dear, he was not invited," Mrs. Strong whispered. "But he is such a dancer! And Eleanor is

"Mrs. Manfred and Mr. Bell Joined the Dancers."

obsessed. She has danced with him at several places, and my talking to her seems useless. It's all right, don't you think?"

"Why—it must be. And I want to dance with him!"

And so Mrs. Manfred was introduced to Hubert Bell as soon as Mrs. Strong could catch her daughter's eye effectively; and the mother impulsively took her daughter aside, perhaps for a lecture.

When the band played again, Mrs. Manfred and Mr. Bell joined the dancers. The young man was groomed to the moment. Though tall he was muscular, and his grace was a study. He would have been handsome but for his eyes which were small, set close together and elusive.

"I thought you never would tire of dancing with that young man," said Mrs. Pelham as Mrs. Manfred rejoined her. The party was breaking up. "He must be a charming fellow."

"His charm lies in his symmetry of motion, dear. I never so enjoyed dancing. But I wanted to keep him from Miss Strong. He talked about her endlessly, though he was curious about the whole Strong family. I must see Mrs. Strong tomorrow."

"Why?"

"Well, I've placed him. He doesn't belong with our sort. And he wasn't invited here. I met him—saw him, I mean—a year ago, in an uptown cabaret. He was what they call a 'dance host' there."

"The idea!"

As they were leaving with other guests whom Mrs. Strong was speeding, they noted Miss Strong and Hubert Bell together half concealed by a palm down the hall.

Mrs. Strong was worried about her daughter, and had taken her husband into her confidence. Strong was a man of action. He was bound to find out all about Hubert Bell. A detective was employed, and Strong asked his daughter to avoid the young man until something definite could be learned about him. To simplify matters, the Strongs planned to send Miss Strong to an aunt in Newport at once.

Miss Strong was shipped off to her aunt, who in due time wired that the girl had not appeared. A letter came from the girl, postmarked at Boston, telling her parents that she had married Hubert Bell.

The detective called on the Strongs ten minutes after the girl's letter came. The Strongs greeted him.

"The last we knew of the girl in the department," the detective said, "he was dancing in a cabaret. We thought he had reformed. We didn't know he had got among the swells."

"Reformed?" exclaimed Strong. "What do you mean?"

"His name in the gallery is Bud Alken, and he has served time."

WHY DOES THE UNITED STATES LEAD IN CRIME?

Daily Interview With National Leaders — Today's Interview With Sir Robert Peacock, Chief Constable of Manchester.

England and

Wales N. Y. Chi'go

Murder	58	270	207
Manslaughter	93	476	218
Rape	68	527	255
Robbery	51	1420	1648

"Why should New York and Chicago each have four times as many murders as England and Wales? Well, it's my opinion that your people are not mightily concerned over their crime problem. If they were you could put a stop to it quickly."

Your people don't have over much confidence in your police. It's because of this thing called 'grafting,' isn't it? I know that such a thing does not exist among our British bobbies.

Besides grafting you poke fun at your police and consider it a good joke if you get around them. Take these comic papers of yours, they are always having fun at the expense of the police. In Britain I can honestly say that the bobby is loved and respected. He represents the empire—the people.

"I should say that your biggest fault is in trying to detect crime after it is committed, instead of trying to prevent it in the first place."

"And your second big fault is the scandalous way in which you let any man that wants one, buy a gun and carry it. Not even our police in England carry revolvers. We issue them only when raiding some house where there are known to be desperate characters in hiding. We have very few crimes of violence because there are no revolvers among our people. Most American crimes are crimes of violence. Your police are entirely too free with the use of their guns. I read, while in New York, of a policeman who ordered a taxi-cab driver to stop, when he didn't the officer fired, killing the passenger instead of the driver. Such a thing would not be tolerated in England."

STRAY DEER WAS SEEN IN JACKSON TOWNSHIP

Howard, Homer and Theodore Koch who reside on the farm of Miss Charlotte Caldwell in Jackson township, report seeing a stray deer last Monday afternoon about dusk. The young men say they were within 50 feet of the animal when they saw it. They frightened the animal which left on a hop, skip and jump, disappearing almost instantly, headed North.

Roller-Bearing Trains on Concrete Beds Speed

Chicago.—A new age of transportation with crack passenger trains running safely at terrific speeds on concrete roadways reinforced with steel trusses was predicted by Frank H. Alfred of Detroit, president of the Pere Marquette railway, at the meeting of the American Railway association.

Cars of the new trains will run on roller bearings and their speed will be almost as fast as airplanes.

Mr. Alfred, with the assistance of Paul Chapman, engineer, has worked out the plan. "To the airplane theory, our answer is 'safety,'" said the Pere Marquette president. "The new roadbed and bearings will give railroad trains speed comparable to that of the planes and the superior safety of the rails will continue."

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. SHORT STORIESCollected Tales From
Cook's Domain Would Crowd Pantry Shelf.Washington.—Boston, within the
last year, has lost two landmarks.
Most Americans have heard of the Washington elm which stood in Cambridge, but most Americans have had
much closer acquaintance with the Parker house, which has been surrendered to the wreckers. In the kitchen
of the famous hotel a cook created the Parker house roll."When it comes to geographic short
stories, kitchens can tell many
anecdotes of strange times, strange
lands, and strange peoples," says a bulletin from the headquarters of the National Geographic society in Washington, D. C. "Flavored with history
and spiced with the humor of humanity, the collected tales from the cook's domain will push out the ends of
many a five-foot pantry shelf.

Bun Making in Capitol.

"Take, for example, the intimate relation between congress and a famous
bun. Below the floor of the capitol
the Vienna roll was first made for America. It happened this way. All
the quiet on the Potomac was shattered one day during the Civil war by rumors that the Confederates were plotting to blow up the bakeries on
the outskirts of the city. Next day
Pennsylvania avenue saw a strange
parade, bakers and baker wagons
bake ovens and baker supplies, toiling
along to the capitol. While the bakeries occupied the extensive cellars
under the halls of congress, Vienna
rolls and French bread were introduced in the capital and a taste for them spread through the nation."Benjamin Franklin is the father of the broom industry in America. A lady came to Philadelphia from En-
rope and brought a whisk broom.
Franklin happened to see it one day
and noticed the unusual stiffness of
the fibers. Attached to one straw he saw a seed pod which he requested
of the lady. Franklin is said to have planted the seed and thus he grew
the first broom corn in the United States."Franklin had many honors in many
fields, but there is no record of him
winning the blue ribbon. Nowadays
prize horses and cows, prize peaches and babies, are given blue ribbons, but that is a misuse of a sacred privilege.
The 'Cordon Bleu,' as the French say,
is the supreme distinction for cook-
ery. An argument between Louis XV
and Madame Du Barry brought it into being. The king said only men could be superior chefs. Madame Du Barry
set about having a wonderful dinner
prepared. The king came, ate, and asked the name of the chef that he might attach him to the royal household. 'I have caught you at last,' said
Du Barry. 'The chef is not a man at all, but a woman. I demanded a recompense for her, worthy both of her
and your majesty. Your royal bounty
has made my negro servant, Zamore,
governor of Lucichies, and I cannot accept less than the 'Cordon Bleu' for my cook.'"Some names of familiar kitchen supplies have curious origins. Currants are named for a famous city of Greek antiquity. Greece still is famous as the home of the currant, and
in olden days the variety which grew
in the vicinity of the present Gorthio
was prized. Gorthio is on the site of old Corinth, pronounced in former times 'Coraintz.' Cantaloupes take their name from Cantalupo, Italy, but
a popular variety favored in America,
Rocky Ford cantaloupes, originated in Rocky Ford, a small town of Colorado.

Brussels Sprouts Vs. Carpets.

"The neighboring Iberian peninsula
has bequeathed to the English language the fuscous word 'marmalade.'
The Portuguese preserved quince in syrup and called it 'marmela.' In coming over to the English, the word
spread its arms wide and took in
many more fruits, and even nuts to label toothsome marmalade. Brussels sprouts came by their name more honestly than brussels carpets; the sprouts have been a favorite with Belgium since the fourteenth century,
but the carpets were never made in Brussels."Cooks have a finger in the broth
of language, witness Saratoga chips.
These were popularized by a negro
cook at a summer hotel on Morris-
lake, Saratoga, N. Y. Good cooking
however, is supposed to be a southern specialty, but Boston has done more advertising. In addition to the Parker-house roll, the Hub city has put
its label on Boston baked beans and Boston cream pie."Knives and forks at six paces alone
can settle the title to porterhouse
steak. Boston claims that the choice
cut was the particular pride of Porter's tavern, a roadhouse near Cambridge. New York holds that the pre-rior of a saloon, or 'porter' house,
near the old fly market observed that
the steaks cut from the thick end of the sirloin were best. He insisted that his butcher cut none but these
for him. The fame of 'porterhouse'
steak spread rapidly and the term is
now established in the terminology
of meats."Both kitchen and grocery are implicated in the international complication of macaroni and its cousin spaghetti. Like so many useful perquisites of Christian civilization, macaroni is an invention of China—or Japan. It was introduced in Europe by the Germans, from whom the Italians
learned to make it."LOVING TRIBUTES PAID

ed
Himself To All-In His Southern Home
—Performed Signal Service To the Church, Nation, State and Community
—His Memory Is a Priceless Heritage
To His Family and Friends—Death
Called Him While He Slept.Death early Sunday night claimed
one of Galveston's best loved citizens
when Monsignor James M. Kirwin,
vicar general of the diocese of Galveston, rector of St. Mary's cathedral,
president of St. Mary's seminary and
for thirty years an integral part of
the life of the city, was found dead
in his bed at the rectory.Father Kirwin's death was as simple and as unostentatious as his own life. His body was found about 6:10
o'clock last night by Rev. L. J.
Reicher, who had gone into the room
to wake Father Kirwin.Shortly afternoon yesterday Father
Kirwin had telephoned to Rt. Rev. C.
E. Byrne, bishop of Galveston, and
then retired to his room for an afternoon rest. One of the servants
called him about 5:30 o'clock, but he
asked permission to rest a while longer. It was after 6 o'clock when
Rev. Father Reicher went to the room
to arouse him and discovered he was dead.

Seemed in Good Health.

Father Kirwin apparently was in
good health, except for a slight cold,
but for the past two years he had
been cautioned by his physician to be careful because of high blood pressure. It is believed that this was the real cause of his sudden death. Had
he lived until July 1, he would have celebrated his fifty-fourth birthday.News of the sudden death spread rapidly thru the city and people of all
faiths crowded the rectory at St.
Mary's to offer their services. They came from all walks of life—those
who had shared his joys and sorrows
those he had comforted and those who
had fought with him for the progress of this city. Altho he had been elevated to the rank of monsignor, he was still Father Kirwin to them. Telephones at newspaper offices were busy
until a late hour, answering inquiries
of friends.Funeral services will begin this morning when solemn requiem mass
will be sung at 10 o'clock by Bishop
Byrne. Rev. J. M. Kirwin, of Beaumont, nephew of Father Kirwin, will
sing a mass at 10 o'clock tomorrow
morning and another mass will be said
at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning by
Rev. Marius Chataignon, who served as assistant rector of St. Mary's for
the past fourteen years.

Funeral Mass Thursday.

The funeral mass will be said a 10
o'clock Thursday morning, when it is hoped that the archbishop of New Orleans will render the mass with Bishop Joseph Lynch of Dallas deliver-
ing the funeral service.The apostolic delegate from Rome,
Most Rev. Pietro Fumasoni Biondi,
now in Corpus Christi, has been invited to attend the services. It is expected that the bishops of the province, ten in number, will attend.Father Kirwin is survived by his mother, five brothers and a sister in Circleville, Ohio. His sister has been seriously ill for the past several months and Father Kirwin was called
to Ohio several weeks ago because of
her illness.The body was taken to the cathedral last night, where it will lie in state until Thursday.

Native Ohioan.

Father Kirwin was the son of
Patrick and Mary Ryan Kirwin and
was born in Circleville, Ohio, July 1, 1872. He attended St. Mary's college in Kentucky, continuing his education at Mount St. Mary's seminary
at Cincinnati, Ohio, where he was ordained in June, 1895.Later he took a post graduate course at the Catholic university of America and was appointed rector of
St. Mary's cathedral in Galveston in August, 1896.From that day until the date of his death Father Kirwin has worked
zealously in the interest of the city
of his adoption. During the yellow fever epidemic in 1897 he worked unceasingly and in 1898 he raised a regiment for the Spanish-American
war, every man leaving from his
school hall. Father Kirwin was appointed chaplain and reports of the war department read. "The men and officers loved him."

After the storm of 1900 Father

Kirwin wrote the order putting the city under martial law. He personally supervised the burial of the dead,
particularly the carrying of the
bodies out to sea, working continuously for twenty days in carrying out
the orders of the adjutant general. In 1901 Father Kirwin was presented a medal by the fire department in appreciation of his noteworthy work. It was said by Dr. Henry Cohen that Father Kirwin was the most outstanding worker in the 1900 storm.Father Kirwin had the honor of delivering the opening prayer at the laying of the cornerstone of the sea-
wall in 1902 and officiated at the
finishing exercises of the seawall
when the commemorative monuments
were placed in position in 1905.In 1907 Father Kirwin settled the Southern Pacific dock strike and in 1909 organized the Home Protective League and put the saloons out of the residence section of Galveston, after
a fierce fight in the legislature, in which he carried the day against both
local members of the house and the
senator of the district.The thirtieth anniversary of Father
Kirwin's ordination to the priesthood
was observed informally June 19,
1925. Father Kirwin desired no public recognition, but he unconsciously
mentioned it to a reporter of The News and a brief story carried in the issue of the morning paper gave him
much pleasure.

Offered Army Post.

During the world war Father Kir-
win was offered the post of chaplain
general of the United States army by General John J. Pershing, but owing to the illness and subsequent death of Bishop N. A. Gallagher, under whom
he had served for so long a time, he
was compelled to decline.However, he was one of the outstanding Galvestonians in world war
activities, serving as a four-minute
speaker in every liberty loan drive
and other activities, and holding the
post of chairman of the home service
section of the American Red Cross,
one of the most important adjuncts of
all local relief work.Father Kirwin came to Galveston
under the late Rt. Rev. Nicholas A.
Gallagher, and for several years prior
to Bishop Gallagher's death in 1918
served as vicar general of the
diocese, and as administrator of the diocese until the consecration of Rt.
Rev. Christopher E. Byrne, the present bishop.For several years he had been president of St. Mary's seminary at La-Porte, a post to which he was assigned
by Bishop Gallagher and continued by Bishop Byrne. He had developed this institution into one of first rank and
many of its graduates are serving as priests in the diocese of Galveston.Father Kirwin was tendered a public reception at the city auditorium on June 22, 1920, in recognition of his
service of twenty-five years here,
when dignitaries from all parts of
the state and nation were in attendance. Recognition of the anniversary
of Father Kirwin was also given at
the banquet tendered him at Hotel
Galvez when he was hailed as "the man of the hour" the one man who
could bring peace and quietude to a city which was being ruled by martial
law.

Honored by Pope.

On June 24, 1924, Pope Pius XI
conferred the ecclesiastical title of
monsignor upon Father Kirwin in recognition of the work of Father
Kirwin in behalf of the church and
patriotic services to the state and nation. Bishop Byrne received notice of the action taken by Pope Pius in a letter from Cardinal De Lai of Rome.Special ceremonies incident to the elevation of Father Kirwin to the monsignori were held at St. Mary's cathedral December 11, 1922, when he
was invested with the violet cassock
and rochet.

Prominent in K. of C.

Father Kirwin at the time of his death was faithful friar of the Galveston Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights
of Columbus; state chaplain of the Catholic Daughters of America and also chaplain of Court Star of theSea No. 228, of the daughters' organization in Galveston.He was also past state chaplain of the third and fourth degree, Knights
of Columbus, as well as past chaplain of Galveston Council No. 228,
and had always been active in Knights
of Columbus ranks.Beginning at 10 o'clock last night, hourly vigil was maintained by third
and fourth degree knights. These will last until 8 o'clock this morning.
At the 10 o'clock requiem mass today the fourth degree knights, in full regalia, will act as a guard of honor.Announcement was made that the Knights of Columbus hall would be closed and the meeting scheduled for
tonight postponed.Knights of Columbus were asked
to report at 9:30 o'clock this morning at the rectory in full regalia.Father Kirwin also was chaplain of Gary Ord Camp No. 7, United Spanish-American war veterans, a meeting of which has been called for this morning to adopt suitable resolutions.

Bishop Praises

Bishop Byrne was too gretty affected by the suddenness of the death of Father Kirwin to give much of an expression last night, but he spoke of
the love and respect which all his
parishioners had for Father Kirwin
and how all-encompassing was his
love for them."He thought too little of himself
and was not as careful as he should have been," Bishop Byrne said. "We all loved him. He had a nature that everyone loved. We will miss him
deeply."Dr. Henry Cohen, rabbi of Temple B'nai Israel, said:"It is impossible for me at this moment to estimate the service of Monsignor Kirwin to Galveston and
the state of Texas; in the near future
this will be told by the multitude in song and story. The shock of his sudden demise after three decades of
close companionship has left me
speechless, and I can only vaguely
think of the utter bereavement of his
community and the city that was the field of his labors during the whole of
his fine manhood. The rest is with God, the Greatest Comforter."John Darrouzet, president of the Catholic Charities, last night said:"I regret exceedingly to hear of the death of Father Kirwin. The world has been very much better off because
of his broadmindedness, courageous
character and extreme love for all classes and creeds. He commanded
the love and respect of all who came
in contact with him." — Galveston

Short Obituary

A lively western boy, playing with his chum, suddenly interrupted the ball game by saying, "Bet you don't know what happened at 5:30 this morning?" "What?" the other boy asked. "My uncle passed away." "What's that?" "He died." And the ball game was resumed.—Capper's Weekly

Early Stoves.

The "Franklin" stove, which is entirely open in front, was invented by Benjamin Franklin. The older forms are portable open fireplaces, in which andirons are used; the modern ones often contain a grate and are sometimes fitted with sliding doors, by which the fire may be entirely shut in.

TWO SHIPS ELOQUENT REMINDERS OF PASTRevived Memories of Other Days in Sailors.

Two days from the Azores we were chugging through a sea which scarcely rippled, a sea bereft of any vestige of shipping beyond ourselves. For days in fact, we had seen no other vessel, for although we were on one of the regular shipping lanes it is a significant fact that the highways of the ocean are much less frequented than they were in pre-war days. J. D. Gill, writes in the Boston Transcript.

Now that we have returned to the piping times of peace, if not of plenty, we are apt to forget the war and all its ugly phases, which is perhaps all for the best.

But on this particular day we had a little reminder of the past. Early in the forenoon word traveled around the ship that a sail was sighted. A sail, mark you, in these days is a very rare sight, for there are few indeed of the type of craft which brought England her glory, her wealth, her supremacy of sea power, and above all her heritage of love for the ocean.

So it was with eager eyes we sought for the name of the lofty-masted, graceful vessel and vain would we have read something which indicated her nationality to be British. But our worst fears were realized as we read the name "Parma" on her bow, and simultaneously with the two ships drawing abreast, her flag was hoisted over the taff rail, to be dipped in the age-old custom of the sea.

The red, white and black of Germany.

To the men who lined the rails, there was little occasion to give further reminder of the war, for the majority of us had seen service of some sort, though mostly at sea. And to those who spent weary hours watching for only the sight of a Teuton and many others who had the experience of having had their vessel sink under them without even that satisfaction, it brought back a flood of memories.

So passed the Parma of Hamburg, a gallant four-masted, square-rigged vessel, her colors flying proudly at her gaff.

Two months later, almost to the day, we were lurching along in the wake of a heavy southwest gale, off the banks of Newfoundland. Before breakfast a sail was sighted, though a vastly different type of vessel to the Parma of Hamburg. A small three-masted schooner she was, laboring heavily in the high Atlantic swell which was the result of the gale that had just passed.

A rather forlorn little vessel she seemed, struggling valiantly with the huge seas that appeared to engulf her as she was lost to sight in the trough of the swell. But she seemed to rise each time with a courage that was almost personal in its triumph over the elements, truly, we thought, a brave little vessel to pit itself against such overwhelming odds. A striking contrast from the splendor, the grandeur almost amounting to arrogance, of the Parma of Hamburg.

Across her stern we read the legend: "Edith M. Cavell, St. John's, Newfoundland."

Iron Chain of Civil War Unearthed by Landslide

Hickman, Ky.—Buried under a bluff since the site was surrendered by Confederate soldiers in 1861, part of the mile-long chain, composed of 19-pound iron links that was stretched across the Mississippi river by soldiers of the South to prevent the passage of Union gunboats, has been bared at Columbus, Ky., 20 miles from here, by a landslide that hurled two acres of ground into the stream.

Sixty feet of the chain were exposed by the slide. The anchor to which the Kentucky end of the chain was attached has been dug out. Its shaft is 16 feet long and the arms 17 feet.

x HARTMAN THEATER. x
x x x x x x x x

Hailed as one of the best musical revues ever assembled, the new edition of "Artists and Models" opens a week's engagement at the Hartman theater Columbus, Monday night, January 25. There will be matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

This marks the first booking of this famous Shubert Revue in Columbus. It ran all last season in New York.

The list of stars reads like a page from "Who's Who in Revue." Among the entertainers are Grace Haves, the quivering angel of jazz songs; Fred Hillebrand, the lanky comedian; Nancy Gibb, the prima donna; Lucita Covera, the Spanish dancer and Dave Seed, the monkey comic.

Fifty beautiful artists' models reveal their charms in the posing scenes and musical numbers. Those girls were recruited from the foremost studios of Greenwich Village and the collection includes blondes, brunettes, ravens and Titians. In the episodes of "The Living Statues" and "The Living Palette," they wear "elephant's breath" chiffon, a new stage fabric so light in weight that the entire costume is carried in a silver vanity case.

Scenic features of "Artists and Models" include the Promenade walk, the Midnight Color Ball, the rose ballet the New Hampshire wood, and a comedy skit entitled "Truth in China."

The music is by Sigmund Romberg, Al Goodman and Maurie Rubens. Some of the song hits are "You Ought to Know," "My Lady's Fan," "Oh, Boy What a Girl," "Good Night" and "Follow Your Star."

LIABILITY INSURANCEWhat It Is and the Benefits That Accrue to the Policy Holders.

I wonder if you realize that every car owner is responsible to the public for the operation of his car, whether he drives it himself or allows others to drive it.

PUBLIC LIABILITY is an insurance term indicating the responsibility the car owner is under for injuries or death inflicted on persons thru the operation of his car.

It is most important of all automobile insurance features, owing to the unknown possibilities of the claims.

Some of the factors making accidents and consequent liability claims daily more numerous, and the owner's risk in operating a car an ever increasing one, are:

CONGESTION OF TRAFFIC. Roads are about the same width as formerly, yet traffic thereon has greatly increased. Between fifteen and twenty million motor vehicles are registered in the United States today. This vast number is being increased daily.

LOW PRICES OF SECOND-HAND CARS have added greatly to the number of irresponsible drivers, who menace all other users of the roads. The careful, sane driver is often the sufferer from the faults of others. IMPROVED HIGHWAYS are a constant temptation to speedsters and encourage less careful attention on the part of all drivers.

THE CHILDREN MUST PLAY, and there being very little yard space around the average city home, the playing is done in the path of the motorists. The heavy tolls of 1924 in life, injuries and property losses have been given wide publicity in the press of the country.

AMBULANCE-CHASING LAWYERS (and there is one or more in every city) make a business of creating cases against any car owner involved in an accident, whether or not it is serious, whether or not he is liable and particularly if he has property.

COURT CHARGES AND ATTORNEY'S FEES MUST BE PAID, and eventually, possibly a heavy judgment to be paid with interest and costs. The feelings, sympathies and judgments of juries are generally in favor of the injured and against the car owner. Verdicts for injuries or death run into thousands of dollars, and are larger than ever before. Even if you win, your expenses mount to a large figure.

An automobile liability guarantees the investigation of claims whether you are liable or not, adjusts, pays, fights your case if necessary, pays expenses, lawyer's fees and court costs, relieves you from responsibility and worry. It does all of this for the owner and for any one legally operating the car with the owner's permission.

If you are now carrying liability insurance, the above facts will serve to strengthen the conviction that led you to protect yourself.

This information, coupled with the fact that last year no fewer than twenty-eight states introduced bills for compulsory liability insurance, is conclusive evidence of the advisability of every car owner relieving himself of personal liability.

ISSUES WARNING AGAINST COLORING

State Department of Agriculture Seeks Butter Substitute Violators.

State Director of Agriculture, Charles V. Truax, has issued a statement to retailers and consumers to an attempt to market colored butter substitutes in this state by certain concerns that are grossly misrepresenting their product.

Legitimate oleomargarine producers here discourage these compounds, according to officials in charge of Ohio's food inspection, since they injure the marketing of their reliable product. The department of agriculture, according to Director Truax, will strictly enforce the law prohibiting unlawful distribution of this cooking compound and wholesale and retail dealers will be prosecuted when found selling this product through misrepresentation.

WILL FIGHT BAN ON CORN SUGAR

Bill to Solve Crop Surplus in Congress.

Washington.—Asserting that they have the backing of more than a million farmers and business men of the corn belt, Iowa congressmen have begun a determined fight to solve the corn surplus problem by removing restrictions on the sale of corn sugar now imposed by the pure food act.

In this way they hope to build up a new market which will consume millions of bushels of corn each year and eventually take over the entire annual surplus.

There are no restrictions now on the manufacture of corn sugar, but under the pure food act, all products in which corn sugar is used must be specially branded and labeled to show that corn sugar and not beet or cane sugar was used.

In order to remove this restriction a bill has been introduced in the senate by Senator Cummins (Rep., Iowa) and in the house by Representative Cole (Rep., Iowa). The bill provides for amending the pure food law so that corn sugar products will be added to the list of articles that are not deemed misbranded if not specially labeled.

To the farmers of Iowa and Illinois, who have been forced to accept low prices for corn, largely because of the surplus, increased manufacture of corn sugar would offer a new market for larger quantities of corn. Already thousands of letters have been sent to mid-western congressmen and to the Department of Agriculture urging the immediate passage of legislation which will remove the present restrictions on the sale of corn sugar products.

The Department of Agriculture is not so sure that the proposed change in the pure food act would be a good thing. Secretary of Agriculture Jardine is giving close study to the problem, and while anxious to see the sale of corn sugar exploited, he is undecided as to whether changing the pure food law is the best way to do it.

False Alarm

Is Leader in Every Movement for Betterment of Common Lot.

Bucharest.—The World war shook many thrones, but it only served to strengthen that of Queen Marie, for to her people she is known not as the queen of Rumania but as "the mother of Rumania."

Rumania's greatest woman among her subjects is something much more than a symbol of sovereign power; she is the fountainhead of all charity, sympathy and help. Every act of benevolence, every movement for the betterment of the common lot, every inspiration for a nobler and higher life seems to center in Queen Marie, an English-Russian woman whom fate and fortune placed at the head of a Latin race.

Before the war her realm embraced less than seven million people. Today she rules over seventeen million souls, but the word "rules" is hardly applicable to Queen Marie's occupancy. She is one of the most democratic and indulgent of reigning queens, just how democratic being shown in this manner:

Even Reporters Are Received

Scarcely had the words been spoken when Queen Marie, attired simply in a silk dressing gown and sandals, with her long golden hair flowing loosely over her shoulders, stepped forward.

"I know you will excuse me for appearing in this unconventional and 'unqueenly' way," she said smilingly to the astonished correspondent, "but I'm getting ready for dinner, and as I know you called specially to see me about my views for the American people, I did not want to send you away without a few minutes' friendly chat."

While King Ferdinand is the titular head of the royal house of Rumania, Americans and others who have been to Rumania know that Marie, by reason of her vital, dominant, dynamic personality and force of character, transcends the king, who is of a shy, diffident, negative temperament. In relation to the queen he is not the ruler, but the ruled. In this respect Queen Marie inherits some of the positive, self-reliant, dominating qualities of her great ancestor, Queen Victoria.

"The king, poor man," the queen told the correspondent, "is a bashful, child soul, and I've got always to push him into the limelight."

The talents, brilliance and versatility of Queen Marie equally make her one of the most notable world figures. One of four daughters of Prince Alfred, duke of Edinburgh, and of Grand Duchess Marie Alexandrovna, only daughter of Czar Alexander II of Russia, she was endowed with natural beauty, charm and grace.

Most Beautiful Queen of World.

Although now past fifty years of age, she still is considered the most beautiful queen in the world. American women are captivated by her soft, youthful, regular features and her unaffected, winning manner. She is at once a womanly queen and a queenly woman. Many of her admirers have often said that her peculiar attributes of intellect, beauty, energy and popularity entitle her to be the queen of England; that her talent is wasted on a Balkan country.

Queen Marie not only possesses all the natural endowments which Americans usually associate with a queen but she is remarkably gifted as a linguist, a writer and a poetess. She speaks English, German, Rumanian, Russian, Italian, Spanish and perfect English. She has written no less than ten books on history, poetry, philosophy, fiction and the fine arts. She also has achieved marked success in painting, embroidery, designing and furniture making.

Queen Marie has given the world two other queens in the persons of her daughters, and is prepared to offer a third. They are Queen Marie of Yugo-Slavia, wife of King Alexander, and Queen Elizabeth of Greece, who, however, lost her crown in the revolution of 1924, which threw her young husband, King George, off the throne. The third prospective "queen" is Marie's beautiful sixteen-year-old daughter Heana.

Has "Fairy" Scrapbook Written by Andersen

Larchmont, N. J.—The recent announcement from Copenhagen that the manuscript of a hitherto unpublished story by Hans Christian Andersen, famous Danish author of stories for children, had been found in the Royal library, has brought to light the possession of Dr. Virgo Drewsen of 5 Cherry Lane, a scrapbook of approximately 100 pages, which was compiled by Andersen for Doctor Drewsen when he was three years old.

This book, three pages of which were exhibited at the International house, New York city, on April 4 when Andersen's birthday was celebrated there, was termed a "Fairy book" by Andersen, who with the aid of Doctor Drewsen's father, fast-forwarded the volume 63 years ago. The book contains clippings from newspapers and magazines, some with comments by Andersen.

Commission Ruling In Gas Rate Increase.

At the same time the commission set March 4 as the date for hearing protests filed by the city against the proposed increase. The rate schedules were filed Dec. 30. The city contends they are "unjust, unreasonable and discriminatory."

with being in control of this commission which he directs from the Desler hotel.

I do not believe in the multiplicity of laws. I believe in the honest administration of the law we already have. We need less laws in this state. I am not a candidate for president of the United States. The present assembly tried to unload the Bible bill on me, but failed. I believe in the complete separation of church and state.

He scored the general assembly for passing the acceptance of the John Bryan farm over his head. The Taft bill also was scored and proved his contention by the defeat given the bill by the people at the polls.

Chairman Dye of the state Central Democratic committee made a short address.

He said every country in the state should hold just such banquets as these. We should rededicate ourselves to the principles and ideals of Thomas Jefferson. He claimed 80 per cent of the daily press and the five Press associations are under control and influence of the Republican party and give that party special privileges.

The stage is set for us in 1926, we will elect a United States senator governor, legislature and a full state ticket. Democracy is aroused.

Miss Allen's subject was Citizenship. She pleased the audience by her pleasant delivery, as the first state's Portia in the highest legal tribunal of the state she has done her sex a credit, and has performed the duties of her office in a manner that has commanded the respect of the legal fraternity. She told the audience that she was here as a Democrat and I know that is right. She said America is the creditor nation of the world. We must cooperate with the world if we wish to succeed and carry out the ideals of our forefathers.

Every boy should know by heart the preamble of the constitution of the United States.

The Teapot Dome, the Shenandoah catastrophe, Colonel Mitchell and the aircraft scandals were mentioned by her.

I do not believe in an aggressive war but I do believe the airplane is an ideal instrument for common defense. She favored the entrance by our government into the world court. The Fordney-McCumber tariff bill was given a slap, as was also the manner of acquiring the Canal Zone and Panama.

Cyrus Locher, director of commerce was the fourth and last speaker, he is a good talker and made a splendid speech.

Speaking of the father of the party, Thomas Jefferson, he said that he was the inventor of the mold plow, the first importer of Merino sheep, the architect of Monticello, the author of the Bill of Rights, he abolished the law of primogeniture, the separation of church and state, the public school system and the abolition of slavery.

Jackson throttled nullification and refused a charter to the Second National bank of Washington, which then had a capital of $35,000,000 which in those times was a considerable sum. We now have 1110 banks with a capital of two billion, seven hundred and fifty million dollars. We have now 950 loan and savings banks with deposits of $850,000,000. Jackson's Civil Service reform was an outstanding feature of his term as president, his influence will live as long as that of Jefferson.

Lincoln, the emancipator, was a great Republican and will live for all time as the greatest man of his party. With the names of Washington, Jefferson, Jackson and Wilson, the Democracy will be safe and the party will have honored names to cherish.

Whenever we suffer from insomnia we try to think out good aids for editorials and in no time at all we are sound asleep.

LIBRARIES EVERYWHERE USE SAME SYSTEM.

The card catalog system used by practically all libraries in the United States is the same.

There are three ways of finding books, viz: first, under the author's name; second, under the title of the book; third, under the subject to which the book relates.

Books are arranged on the shelves by the Dewey decimal classification now used in most of the libraries in the United States. This system divides the books into ten classes, namely: general works, philosophy, religion, sociology, language, natural science, useful arts, fine arts, literature, and history.

Fiction is shelved alphabetically under the author's name.

During 1925, the number of books added to the Circleville Public library was 723. For these books, 1,664 cards were added to the card catalog.

New books were classified as: General works (including bound magazines) 199; Philosophy 12; Religion 16; Sociology 62; Language 20; Science 19; Useful Arts 23; Fine Arts 22; Literature 49; History (including history travel and biography) 57; Fiction 244. Total non-fiction 479.

PICKAWAY U. B. CIRCUIT.

Rev. George Weir, Pastor.

458 East Franklin St.

Dresbach Sunday school at 9:30. Evening at 7 o'clock. Subject: "Religion, Education, Organization."

Morris Sunday school 9:30. The gospel campaign begins Sunday evening at 7 o'clock. Subject: "Religion, Education, Organization."

Pontius Sunday school 9:30. Class meeting to follow. Y. P. S. C. E. at 7 o'clock.

Sunday evening at the Morris U. B. church a Gospel campaign begins and every night during the week, except Saturday at 7 o'clock. We invite the public and when present "try" to feel at home. The general subject for the series, "The Evangelism of Jesus" and each evening some aspect of that evangelism will be considered. We believe that Jesus, in His personality should be presented rather than church creed or membership. What He is and what He does. So this will be a gospel campaign. The Logan Elm Grange, the Pickaway township farm bureau and the Pickaway centralized school are invited to attend the opening Sunday evening.

"God, unseen, yet ever near, Reveal Thy presence now, While we in love that hath no fear, Before Thy glory bow."

On the other hand, leaders of the pro-court forces expressed confidence that the present members of the court would find to be acceptable the reservations and declarations of policy in the resolution of adherence.

Those who have been most prominent in the fight against ratification said they would not be content to rest their hopes on a refusal of a state to assent to the conditions under which the American government is willing to participate in the tribunal.

Declaring that the fight to prevent a permanent change in the foreign policy of this country had only begun, they declared they would take their case to the "court of American public opinion," beginning with the senatorial primaries and elections this summer and fall.

Their campaign will be directed to the end of removing the United States from the court and they called attention that this could be done by a joint resolution of the house and senate, for the adoption of which only a majority in each would be necessary.

HAPPENINGS IN OUR STATE

Taken Direct From Wires By Correspondents of the United States Press Association.

Columbus—Six thousand Ohio farmers are expected to attend the annual Farm Week program which opens at the Ohio State university Monday, February 1. Two hundred speakers are on the program which include instructors and officials from 10 universities and officials from the federal department of agriculture.

The week will be devoted to the farmer and his interests. Other organizations such as the Ohio State Horticultural society and the Ohio Forestry association will hold meetings during the week.

Cleveland—Dramatically winding up the sensational Kirby-Cleveland discount company trial here Thursday U. S. District Attorney A. E. Bernstein accused the former head of the $40,000,000 concern of milking $4,200,000 from the firm while every stockholder in it lost money.

Cleveland—A near panic occurred in a district motion picture theater here Thursday night when a boiler in the basement exploded killing Paul Lazare, theater manager.

Lazare was standing in the lobby near a door leading to the basement when the blast occurred. He had just closed the door after attending the furnace.

The force of the explosion hurled the door against Lazare, fracturing his skull. He died an hour later.

Columbus—The matrimonial barge in which Fern Rogers, erstwhile ingenue of Ed Wynn's musical comedy, "The Grab Bag" and her surgeon husband, Dr. Roy Bowman, sailed so merrily two weeks ago, had struck a decided snag Thursday with Bowman looking from behind the bars in the city jail and Mrs. Bowman seeking annulment of her marriage.

North Baltimore—Fire of undetermined origin destroyed the $100,000 North Baltimore high school during the night, leaving 400 students without a place to attend school.

Steps to rebuild the structure will be taken immediately, school board officials announced today.

Toledo—Six families were driven to the street Thursday afternoon when fire swept the upper floors of the Hollywood apartments here. Origin of the blaze has not been determined. No estimate of the damage was made.

Misses Ethel and Bernice Cook spent the day in Columbus.

Terrible Swedes of Coffeyville, Kansas, Will be Here Next Week.

Displaying some of the best passing seen for some time on the local court, the C. A. C. quintet came out on the long end of a 61 to 26 score in the game with the Indianola A. C. at the gym Thursday night.

The first quarter of the game was close, fast and furious and indicated a close game but the locals got to going in the second quarter and kept going thruout the contest.

Even though the score is one-sided the game was unusually interesting. The passing and team work of the club boys being almost perfect and time after time they penetrated the defense of the visitors.

Next Thursday night comes Olson's Terrible Swedes of Coffeyville, Kansas. This is a professional team from the west on its seventh tour of the country, having an enviable record of wins. From the last report received from its activities for this season we learn they have competed in fifty-two games with 46 wins to their credit. From newspaper clippings received from various cities in which they have appeared we learn that they have a good clean-cut gentlemanly organization made up of real athletes and good sportsmen with an average height of six feet and three inches.

In bringing this team to Circleville the Athletic club is giving to lovers of basket ball a real attraction and sincerely hope they will show their appreciation by turning out in full force.

The motion picture has not superseded reading, as some people claim. The book most in demand is often the one whose story is being shown on the screen. The fact that a novel has been used as the basis of a moving picture play seems to be a guarantee that it is the kind of story the reader wants.

The Circleville Public library issued for home reading during 1925, 37,387 volumes, an average of over five volumes for each citizen of Circleville, and an increase of 1,445 over the number circulated in 1924.

NATAL DAY OF PATRON SAINT OF DEMOCRACY

Celebrated With Big Dinner, Much Oratory, Good Music at Memorial Hall.

Half a thousand people were entertained at the Jackson day banquet at the Memorial hall held Thursday evening. Judge I. N. Abernethy, the dean of the Pickaway County Bar association presided at the Democratic love feast. It was the first banquet held here in twenty years.

Nearly half the audience was composed of women. The speakers of the evening were Governor Vic Donahey, Thomas E. Dye, chairman of the state Democratic central committee, Miss Florence Allen, supreme court judge, and Cyrus Locher, director of commerce.

The High School orchestra, under the direction of C. F. Zaenglein, teacher of manual training, furnished the music.

The supper was supplied by Mrs. Irwin Boggs. Rev. George Weir gave the invocation. The general committee in charge of the banquet was: Harry D. Reichelderfer, chairman; Mayor George M. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Emanuel S. Neuding, Mrs. Bernard Young and Harry W. Moore.

The menu was: Baked Ham Escalloped Oysters Celery Pickles

Buttered Wheat Braed Hot Rolls Preserves Ice Cream Coffee

System was the order of the evening at the commissary presided over by Mrs. E. S. Neuding, chairman of the luncheon committee. Everything worked with precision. It was a real job to feed five hundred people in a short space of time, but Mrs. Irwin Boggs, who as caterer has had a great deal of experience was equal to the occasion. Mrs. Neuding was assisted by Mrs. G. A. Schleyer, Mrs. J. W. Baldwin, Mrs. E. S. Roper, Mrs. C. L. Moeller, Mrs. Nan Foresman, Mrs. Cary Brown, Mrs. Robert Lilly, Mrs. Jennie Grigsby, Mrs. D. S. Dunlap, Mrs. E. J. Lilly, Mrs. George Groom and Miss Frances Schackert.

Those who acted as waitresses were: Mrs. E. S. Stephens, chairman, Mrs. Charles Fullen, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. Senet Cryder, Mrs. E. E. Prose, Mrs. Harry Valentine, Mrs. Ray Reed, Mrs. Ella Lindsey, Mrs. Robert Young, Mrs. Grace Goff, Mrs. John Bell, Mrs. Elliott Crites, Mrs. Albert Gaimos, Miss Mary Heffner, Miss Winifred Parrett, Misses Marie and Ruth Reichelderfer, Miss Lucile Neuding, Miss Alicia Rooney, Miss Evelyn Teegardin, Miss Martha Mary Jacob, Misses Helen and Eleanor Snyder, Miss Ruth Young, Miss Louise Rowe, Miss Ruth Cryder.

White ostensibly celebrating the anniversary of their patron saint, Andrew Jackson, Thomas Jefferson was honored and proclaimed as the first progressive and really the father of the Democratic party. The merits of Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson were lauded as men whom all Democrats can honor.

Governor Vic Donahey was introduced to the audience by the presiding officer, Judge Abernethy, as the present and next governor. Governor Donahey paid his respects to Governors Allen, Campbell, Pattison, Harmon and Cox. The governor gave his reason for vetoing bills, he claimed that the legislative ignored all his recommendations.

He did not believe in a plethora treasury, more money means more expenditure, a treasury deficit is not such a bad thing. Money is best in your pockets. I have constructed more good roads in the state for less money than any of my predecessors; the concrete and brick trusts can find no lodgment while I am governor.

Announcement of the sale of all the stock of the Herald Company, of Fort Lauderdale, Florida, is of interest here as there are three local stockholders who disposed of their interests. W. J. Galvin, of this city, consummated the deal and with his brother, L. S. Galvin, publisher of the Lima Daily and Sunday News, owned the majority of the stock. Dr. Russell F. Hale and Mrs. Effie G. Fisher, were members of the syndicate.

The Fort Lauderdale Evening Sentinel was purchased last February, as was the Weekly Herald. A large new building was constructed and an entirely new plant, one of the best in Florida, installed. In October the Fort Lauderdale Sunday News was established and has been a great success from its first issue, running as high as 52 pages at times. The business has grown by leaps and bounds, keeping ahead of the progress of Fort Lauderdale, which has grown from a city of 5,600 people in February last to one of 15,955 actual population. December Chamber of Commerce census carefully taken. Mr. Galvin, publisher of the paper, had also announced the establishment of the Fort Lauderdale Morning Sun, effective February 1.

W. J. Galvin, of this city, has been actively in charge of the business since its purchase last February and gathered around him a number of Wilmington and Lima people, including Miss Dora Stautner, society editor; M. J. Misner, Lima, business manager; Richard Armstrong and L. L. McLean, linotype operators, Maynard Conklin, advertising manager; Russell Merker, collector, and others.

The price obtained for the Fort Lauderdale newspaper property, while not given out, is said by R. F. Hale, one of the Wilmington stockholders, as being not far from half a million dollars and is said to have been the third largest ever paid for a newspaper in Florida, being exceeded only by the $1,200,000 paid for the Tampa Tribune recently, and the reported price of $480,000 paid by Governor James M. Cox, of Dayton, for the Miami Metropolis, now called the News.

W. J. Galvin has been asked to remain with the new owners until a suitable publisher may be obtained. He and Mrs. Galvin expect to return to their homes here in the spring, when he will resume his connection with the News-Journal, of which he is also publisher.—Wilmington News-Journal.

Mrs. Fisher was formerly Miss Effie Hunsicker, of Woodlyn, this county; her brother, Mr. Clark Hunsicker, of this city, is a stockholder in the News-Herald.

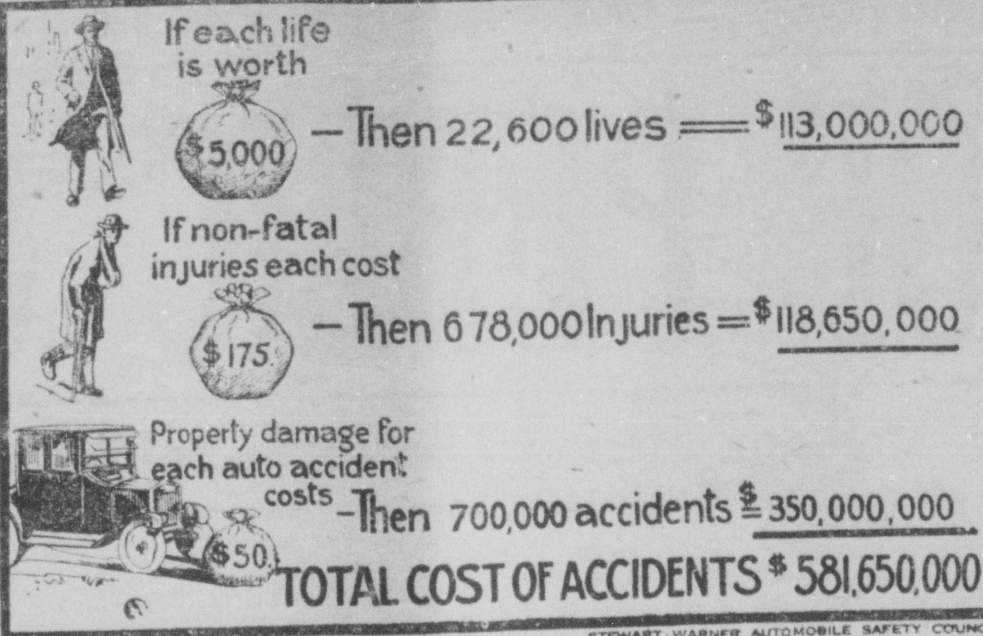

No Complainer

"Some folks complain of hard times the year 'round," said the Billville authority, "and it's all because they don't stir 'roun' when stirrin' time comes. As fer me, I've got no complaint comin', fer when they ain't no business, I whirrs in an' makes it. In spring plantin' time I sense the right weather for 'em an' when the dry drought comes they's no one kin beat me prayin' fer rain; then, if rain threatens to drown 'em out, I switches, must successful, to dry; an' when they's nothin' else a-doin' I predicts the end o' the worl', and they pay up their old debts, an' put money to circulatn', an' the people rise up an' call me blessed—that's how come you never hear me complainin'!"—Atlanta Constitution.

It is believed he was the victim of a rival gang's vengeance. Despite the fact that many persons witnessed the incident no one attempted to help the victim or to call the police.

CLOSE to $600,000,000 a year is the annual economic loss due to automobile accidents, both fatal and non-fatal. This appalling sum is only an estimate, as no complete figures on the number of automobile accidents in the United States are available, but it has been conservatively estimated that 22,600 lose their lives each year by automobiles, and $5,000 a human life is the lowest value put on it by economists.

Of non-fatal accidents 678,000 occur annually, causing average cost of $175. Then, each accident averages $50 property damage, insurance records show. This makes the staggering total of $581,650,000 a year.

No account is taken here, points out the Stewart-Warner Safety Council for the prevention of automobile accidents, of the economic value of time lost by the injured due to delays caused by accidents or to minor property values, such as bent fenders, expense incurred while motor vehicles, particularly the commercial ones, are out of service, due to accidents. Were all these taken into the reckoning, the total figure would surely be doubled, or around $1,113,750,000.

Some idea of the enormity of this economic loss, most of which is avoidable, can be gained by such relationships as these: It is twice the cash income of the 1923 wheat crop; it is equal to about one-third of the much-discussed French debt to this country; and, finally, this loss would buy the entire city of Chicago at its present realty assessment valuation.

MANY a motorist whose car has figured in a fatal accident will be able to present a clear sheet to Saint Peter when his time comes, when one considers all the contributing factors outside of the driver's own fault. A total of 1,390 auto fatalities on record with the Stewart-Warner Safety Council for the prevention of automobile accidents, covering a period of seven months, shows that in 727 cases the fault was clearly the pedestrian's and cannot be put down to the driver, the weather or unavoidable circumstances.

The careless pedestrian's footsteps lead him to the grave by six distinct routes, says the Safety Council, and the most travel-worn of these is jaywalking. Sixty-two per cent of the 727 auto fatalities just referred to were due to straggling across busy streets without using the intersections. Children's playing in the streets was responsible for 31 per cent and coasting for another 3 per cent. Confusion on the part of the pedestrian, not hearing whistles and turning back in his tracks, brought about 9 per cent of these 727 deaths, while physical disability and intoxication rate 3 and 2 per cent respectively.

One Death Per 1000 Autos in a Year Is Record of U. S.

ONE out of a thousand is the relationship between the annual automobile fatalities and the number of motor vehicles in this country, according to the Stewart-Warner Safety Council for the prevention of automobile accidents, which has undertaken a strenuous campaign of automobile safety and accident prevention.

To appreciate what a vast army of killed and injured is annually conscripted by the reckless motorist and careless pedestrian, a comparison may be made with American casualties in the great war. Over a third as many people are killed annually by the automobile as there were American soldiers killed on the field of battle during the entire war, while the number injured each year is nearly three times as great as the number of our boys who were wounded throughout the war.

Distant

Nelson and Wilson were discussing relatives in general and having exhausted the anvil pounding of the close relations started to hammer merrily at the more distant family connections.

"Have you any distant relatives?" Nelson was asked.

"Yes, I have two brothers."

"What! Do you call brothers distant relatives?"

"These brothers are rich, you know?" sadly explained Nelson.

LOANS up to $500

"If you really want to know how much of a success you are, try to borrow $100 from a stranger."

This curt piece of advice was no doubt intended by its author to take the conceit out of his friend. Some other test would have been necessary, had he known of the City Loan plan. There is nothing difficult about it at all. We make $100, $200 and $500 loans to strangers daily. In fact we get a lot of pleasure out of meeting new faces making friends and dealing out City Loan service. Try us and see. It certainly is the popular thing.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Cleveland with a total of 229 automobile fatalities, far outranked her sister Ohio cities in 1925. Figures supplied by the U. S. census bureau for the 53 weeks ending Jan. 2, 1926, show the following number of deaths resulting from automobile accidents in other large Ohio cities: Cincinnati, 126; Columbus, 70; Toledo, 66; Akron, 51; Youngstown, 45; Dayton, 30, and Canton, 30.

All these cities exceeded their 1924 record, the census figures being: Cleveland, 220; Cincinnati, 85; Columbus, 59; Toledo, 46; Akron, 39; Youngstown, 39; Dayton, 26, and Canton, 20. New York City led all others for 1925 with the appalling total of 1,001 automobile fatalities. Chicago had 598; Philadelphia, 306; Detroit, 297 and Los Angeles, 232.

Slants on Life

By J. A. WALDRON

A Modern Open Sesame

THE summer season—usually a silly period—was in full swing at Harbor Bar. A dance was in progress at the new and showy home of the Strongs, who were simply well-to-do before the war, but who now were leaders of social high flunks, anxious to display their apparently endless resources.

Mrs. Manfred and Mrs. Pelham, young society women, quite intimate considering their contrasting trends—the former was frivolous and the latter sedate—were late arrivals, and dancing was in progress. They entered the ballroom together, and surveyed the moving throng.

"Who is that chap?" Mrs. Manfred asked.

"What chap, dear?" responded Mrs. Pelham. "There are quite a number of chaps in sight."

"The tall fellow dancing with Miss Strong. What a dancer! I must meet him!"

"You're actually insane over dancing! Yet I'll confess that if I were, I should look for a partner like him. But for dancing only. Otherwise not my style."

"Well, dear, I must meet him—just for a dance!" And Mrs. Manfred sought Mrs. Strong for an introduction to the marvel who had involved her imagination. She found that lady alertly watching her daughter's movements with the young man.

"Who is he?" Mrs. Manfred asked. "Hubert Bell. Seems a charming fellow, in a way, although I don't really know him," replied Mrs. Strong. "You don't mean that!"

"Candidly, my dear, he was not invited," Mrs. Strong whispered. "But he is such a dancer! And Eleanor is obsessed. She has danced with him at several places, and my talking to her seems useless. It's all right, don't you think?"

"Why—it must be. And I want to dance with him!"

And so Mrs. Manfred was introduced to Hubert Bell as soon as Mrs. Strong could catch her daughter's eye effectively; and the mother impulsively took her daughter aside, perhaps for a lecture.

When the band played again, Mrs. Manfred and Mr. Bell joined the dancers. The young man was groomed to the moment. Though tall he was muscular, and his grace was a study. He would have been handsome but for his eyes which were small, set close together and elusive.

"His charm lies in his symmetry of motion, dear. I never so enjoyed dancing. But I wanted to keep him from Miss Strong. He talked about her endlessly, though he was curious about the whole Strong family. I must see Mrs. Strong tomorrow."

"Why?"

"Well, I've placed him. He doesn't belong with our sort. And he wasn't invited here. I met him—or saw him, I mean—a year ago, in an uptown cabaret. He was what they call a 'dance host' there."

"The idea!"

As they were leaving with other guests whom Mrs. Strong was speeding, they noted Miss Strong and Hubert Bell together half concealed by a palm down the hall.

Mrs. Strong was worried about her daughter, and had taken her husband into her confidence. Strong was a man of action. He was bound to find out all about Hubert Bell. A detective was employed, and Strong asked his daughter to avoid the young man until something definite could be learned about him. To simplify matters, the Strongs planned to send Miss Strong to an aunt in Newport at once.

Miss Strong was shipped off to her aunt, who in due time wired that the girl had not appeared. A letter came from the girl, postmarked at Boston, telling her parents that she had married Hubert Bell.

The detective called on the Strongs ten minutes after the girl's letter came. The Strongs greeted him.

"Reformed?" exclaimed Strong. "What do you mean?"

"His name in the gallery is Bud Aiken, and he has served time."

WHY DOES THE UNITED STATES LEAD IN CRIME?

Daily Interview With National Leaders — Today's Interview With Sir Robert Peacock, Chief Constable of Manchester.

Wales N. Y. Chi'go
Crimes 1923 1923 1923
Murder58 270 207
Manslaughter .93 476 218
Rape68 527 255

"Why should New York and Chicago each have four times as many murders as England and Wales? Well, it's my opinion that your people are not mightily concerned over their crime problem. If they were you could put a stop to it quickly.

Your people don't have over much confidence in your police. It's because of this thing called 'grafting,' isn't it? I know that such a thing does not exist among our British bobbies.

Besides grafting you poke fun at your police and consider it a good joke if you get around them. Take these comic papers of yours, they are always having fun at the expense of the police. In Britain I can honestly say that the bobby is loved and respected. He represents the empire—the people.

"I should say that your biggest fault is in trying to detect crime after it is committed, instead of trying to prevent it in the first place.

"And your second big fault is the scandalous way in which you let any man that wants one, buy a gun and carry it. Not even our police in England carry revolvers. We issue them only when raiding some house where there are known to be desperate characters in hiding. We have very few crimes of violence because there are no revolvers among our people. Most American crimes are crimes of violence. Your police are entirely too free with the use of their guns. I read, while in New York, of a policeman who ordered a taxi-cab driver to stop, when he didn't the officer fired, killing the passenger instead of the driver. Such a thing would not be tolerated in England.

STRAY DEER WAS SEEN IN JACKSON TOWNSHIP

Howard, Homer and Theodore Koch who reside on the farm of Miss Charlotte Caldwell in Jackson township, report seeing a stray deer last Monday afternoon about dusk. The young men say they were within 50 feet of the animal when they saw it. They frightened the animal which left on a hop, skip and jump, disappearing almost instantly, headed North.

Roller-Bearing Trains on Concrete Beds

Chicago.—A new age of transportation with crack passenger trains running safely at terrific speeds on concrete roadways reinforced with steel trusses was predicted by Frank H. Alfred of Detroit, president of the Pere Marquette railway, at the meeting of the American Railway association.

Cars of the new trains will run on roller bearings and their speed will be almost as fast as airplanes.

Mr. Alfred, with the assistance of Paul Chapman, engineer, has worked out the plan.

"To the airplane theory, our answer is 'safety,'" said the Pere Marquette president. "The new roadbed and bearings will give railroad trains speed comparable to that of the planes and the superior safety of the rails will continue."

The time is passed when the measure of the value of a memorial is quantity. I hope the time has come when that measure is quality. I care not whether the material be marble or granite, its future will be measured by the character of the design. It is quality that has preserved for us the finest examples in painting and sculpture. It is quality that will stamp our imprint upon cemeteries of the future. Simplicity, correct lines and proportions and proper ornamentation are the real fundamentals. A design that is right, material that is lasting and perfect workmanship, spells success for the future of this industry and the beautification of the cemetery. SHORT STORIESCollected Tales From
Crowd Pantry Shelf.Washington.—Boston, within the
last year, has lost two landmarks.
Most Americans have heard of the Washington elm which stood in Cam-
bridge, but most Americans have had
much closer acquaintance with the
Parker house, which has been surren-
of the famous hotel a cook created the
stories, kitchens can tell many
lands, and strange peoples," says a
National Geographic society in Washington, D. C. "Flavored with history
and spiced with the humor of human-
ity, the collected tales from the cook's
domain will push out the ends of

Bun Making in Capitol.

"Take, for example, the intimate relation between congress and a famous
bun. Below the floor of the capitol
the Vienna roll was first made for America. It happened this way. All
the quiet on the Potomac was shattered one day during the Civil war by
rumors that the Confederates were
plotting to blow up the bakeries on
Pennsylvania avenue saw a strange
parade, bakers and baker wagons,
bake ovens and baker supplies, toiling
along to the capitol. While the bak-
eries occupied the extensive cellars
under the halls of congress, Vienna
rolls and French bread were introduced in the capital and a taste for
the broom industry in America. A lady came to Philadelphia from Europe and brought a whisk broom.
and noticed the unusual stiffness of
the fibers. Attached to one straw he
of the lady. Franklin is said to have
the first broom corn in the United States."Franklin had many honors in many
prize horses and cows, prize pencils and babies, are given blue ribbons,
but that is a misuse of a sacred privilege.
The 'Cordon Bleu' as the French say
is the supreme distinction for cook-
ery. An argument between Louis XV
and Madame Du Barry brought it into
being. The king said only men could
be superior chefs. Madame Du Barry
set about having a wonderful dinner
prepared. The king came, ate, and
asked the name of the chef that he
might attach him to the royal house-
hold. 'I have caught you at last,' said
Du Barry. 'The chef is not a man at all, but a woman. I demand a compense for her, worthy both of her
and your majesty. Your royal bounty
has made my negro servant, Zamore,
governor of Lucubus, and I cannot accept less than the 'Cordon Bleu'
for my cook.'"Some names of familiar kitchen
supplies have curious origins. Currents are named for a famous city of Greek antiquity. Greece still is famous as the home of the currant, and
in olden days the variety which grew
in the vicinity of the present Gorthio
was prized. Gorthio is on the site of
old Corinth, pronounced in former times 'Corantiz.' Cantaloupes take their name from Cantalupo, Italy, but
a popular variety favored in America,
Rocky Ford cantaloupes, originated in Rocky Ford, a small town of Colorado."Brussels Sprouts vs. Carrots.
"The neighboring Iberian peninsula
has bequeathed to the English language the luscious word 'marmalade'.
The Portuguese preserved quince in syrup and called it 'marmelo'. In coming over to the English, the word
spread its arms wide and took in
many more fruits, and even nuts to
label toothsome marmalade. Brussels
sprouts came by their name more honestly than brussels carrots; the
sprouts have been a favorite with Belgium since the fourteenth century, but the carrots were never made in Brussels."Cooks have a finger in the brother of language, witness Saratoga chips.
These were popularized by a negro
lake, Saratoga, N. Y. Good cooking
however, is supposed to be a southern
specialty, but Boston has done more
advertising. In addition to the Parker-house roll, the Hub city has put
its label on Boston baked beans and Boston cream pie."Knives and forks at six paces alone
can settle the title to porterhouse
cut was the particular pride of Por-
ter's tavern, a roadhouse near Cambridge. New York holds that the proprietor of a saloon, or 'porter' house
near the old fly market observed that
the steaks cut from the thick end of
the sirloin were best. He insisted
that his butcher cut none but these
for him. The fame of 'porterhouse'
steak spread rapidly and the term is
now established in the terminology
of meats."Both kitchen and grocery are implicated in the international complication of macaroni and its cousin
spaghetti. Like so many useful perquisites of Christian civilization, mac-
aroni is an invention of China—or Japan. It was introduced in Europe by
learned to make it."LOVING TRIBUTES PAID

when Monsignor James M. Kirwin,
vicar general of the diocese of Galves-
ton, rector of St. Mary's cathedral,
president of St. Mary's seminary and
for thirty years an integral part of
in his bed at the rectory.Father Kirwin's death was as sim-
o'clock last night by Rev. L. J.
Reicher, who had gone into the room
to wake Father Kirwin.Shortly after noon yesterday Father
Kirwin had telephoned to Rt. Rev. C.
E. Byrne, bishop of Galveston, and
then retired to his room for an afternoon rest. One of the servants
called him about 5:30 o'clock, but he
asked permission to rest a while longer. It was after 6 o'clock when
Rev. Father Reicher went to the room
to arouse him and discovered he was
dead.

Seemed in Good Health.

Father Kirwin apparently was in
good health, except for a slight cold,
but for the past two years he had
been cautioned by his physician to be
careful because of high blood pressure. It is believed that this was the
real cause of his sudden death. "Had
celebrated his fifty-fourth birthday.News of the sudden death spread
faiths crowded the rectory at St.
Mary's to offer their services. They
came from all walks of life—those
who had shared his joys and sorrows
those he had comforted and those who
had fought with him for the progress
of this city. Altho he had been elevated to the rank of monsignor, he was still Father Kirwin to them. Tele-
phones at newspaper offices were busy
until a late hour, answering inquiries
of friends.Funeral services will begin this
morning when solemn requiem mass
Byrne. Rev. J. M. Kirwin, of Beau-
mont, nephew of Father Kirwin, will
sing a mass at 10 o'clock tomorrow
at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning by
Rev. Marius Chataignon, who served
as assistant rector of St. Mary's for
the past fourteen years.

Funeral Mass Thursday.

o'clock Thursday morning, when it is hoped that the archbishop of New Orleans will render the mass with Bishop Joseph Lynch of Dallas deliver-
Most Rev. Pietro Fumasoni Biondi,
now in Corpus Christi, has been invited to attend the services. It is expected that the bishops of the province, ten in number, will attend.Father Kirwin is survived by his mother, five brothers and a sister in Circleville, Ohio. His sister has been
seriously ill for the past several
months and Father Kirwin was called
to Ohio several weeks ago because of
her illness.The body was taken to the cathedral last night, where it will lie in

Native Ohioan.

Father Kirwin was the son of
Patrick and Mary Ryan Kirwin and
was born in Circleville, Ohio, July 1,
1872. He attended St. Mary's college in Kentucky, continuing his education at Mount St. Mary's seminary
at Cincinnati, Ohio, where he was ordained in June, 1895.Later he took a post graduate course at the Catholic university of America and was appointed rector of
St. Mary's cathedral in Galveston in August, 1896.From that day until the date of his death Father Kirwin has worked
zealously in the interest of the city
of his adoption. During the yellow fever epidemic in 1897 he worked un-
ceasingly and in 1898 he raised a
regiment for the Spanish-American
war, every man leaving from his
pointed chaplain and reports of the
war department read. "The men and
officers loved him."

After the storm of 1900 Father

Kirwin wrote the order putting the
city under martial law. He personally supervised the burial of the dead,
particularly the carrying of the
bodies out to sea, working continuously for twenty days in carrying out
the orders of the adjutant general. In 1901 Father Kirwin was presented a
medal by the fire department in appreciation of his noteworthy work. It was said by Dr. Henry Cohen that Father Kirwin was the most outstanding worker in the 1900 storm.Father Kirwin had the honor of delivering the opening prayer at the
laying of the cornerstone of the sea-
wall in 1902 and officiated at the
finishing exercises of the seawall
when the commemorative monuments
were placed in position in 1905.In 1907 Father Kirwin settled the Southern Pacific dock strike and in 1909 organized the Home Protective
League and put the saloons out of the
residence section of Galveston, after
a fierce fight in the legislature, in
which he carried the day against both
local members of the house and the
senator of the district.The thirtieth anniversary of Father
Kirwin's ordination to the priesthood
was observed informally June 19,
1925. Father Kirwin desired no public recognition, but he unconsciously
News and a brief story carried in the
issue of the morning paper gave him
much pleasure.

Offered Army Post.

During the world war Father Kir-
win was offered the post of chaplain
General John J. Pershing, but owing
to the illness and subsequent death of Bishop N. A. Gallagher, under whom
was compelled to decline.However, he was one of the outstanding Galvestonians in world war
activities, serving as a four-minute
speaker in every liberty loan drive
and other activities, and holding the
post of chairman of the home service
section of the American Red Cross,
one of the most important adjuncts of
all local relief work.Father Kirwin came to Galveston
under the late Rt. Rev. Nicholas A.
Gallagher, and for several years prior
to Bishop Gallagher's death in 1918
served as vicar general of the
diocese, and as administrator of the
diocese until the consecration of Rt.
Rev. Christopher E. Byrne, the present bishop.For several years he had been president of St. Mary's seminary at La-Porte, a post to which he was assigned
by Bishop Gallagher and continued by Bishop Byrne. He had developed this
institution into one of first rank and
many of its graduates are serving as
priests in the diocese of Galveston.Father Kirwin was tendered a public reception at the city auditorium on June 22, 1920, in recognition of his
service of twenty-five years here,
when dignitaries from all parts of
the state and nation were in attendance. Recognition of the anniversary
of Father Kirwin was also given at
the banquet tendered him at Hotel
Galvez when he was hailed as "the
man of the hour" the one man who
could bring peace and quietude to a
city which was being ruled by martial
law.

Honored by Pope.

On June 24, 1924, Pope Pius XI
conferred the ecclesiastical title of
monsignor upon Father Kirwin in
recognition of the work of Father
Kirwin in behalf of the church and
patriotic services to the state and na-
the action taken by Pope Pius in a letter from Cardinal De Lai of Rome.Special ceremonies incident to the elevation of Father Kirwin to the
cathedral December 11, 1922, when he
was invested with the violet cassock
and rochet.

Prominent in K. of C.

Father Kirwin at the time of his
ton Assembly, Fourth Degree Knights
Catholic Daughters of America and
also chaplain of Court Star of theSea No. 228, of the daughters' organization in Galveston.He was also past state chaplain of
of Columbus, as well as past chap-
lain of Galveston Council No. 228,
and had always been active in Knights
of Columbus ranks.Beginning at 10 o'clock last night,
hourly vigil was maintained by third
and fourth degree knights. These will last until 8 o'clock this morning.At the 10 o'clock requiem mass today the fourth degree knights, in full regalia, will act as a guard of honor.
Announcement was made that the Knights of Columbus hall would be
closed and the meeting scheduled for
tonight postponed.Knights of Columbus were asked
to report at 9:30 o'clock this morn-
Gary Ord Camp No. 7, United Span-
ish-American war veterans, a meeting of which has been called for this

Bishop Praises

Bishop Byrne was too gretty affected by the suddenness of the death of Father Kirwin to give much of an expression last night, but he spoke of
the love and respect which all his
parishioners had for Father Kirwin
and how all-encompassing was his
love for them."He thought too little of himself
and was not as careful as he should
have been," Bishop Byrne said. "We
all loved him. He had a nature that everyone loved. We will miss him
deeply."Dr. Henry Cohen, rabbi of Temple B'nai Israel, said:"It is impossible for me at this mo-
Monsignor Kirwin to Galveston and
the state of Texas; in the near future
this will be told by the multitude in
song and story. The shock of his sudden demise after three decades of
close companionship has left me
speechless, and I can only vaguely
think of the utter bereavement of his
field of his labors during the whole of
his fine manhood. The rest is with God, the Greatest Comforter."John Darrouzet, president of the Catholic Charities, last night said:"I regret exceedingly to hear of the death of Father Kirwin. The world
has been very much better off because
of his broadmindedness, courageous
character and extreme love for all
classes and creeds. He commanded
the love and respect of all who came

Short Obituary

A lively western boy, playing with his chum, suddenly interrupted the ball game by saying, "Bet you don't know what happened at 5:30 this morning?" "What?" the other boy asked. "My uncle passed away." "What's that?" "He died." And the ball game was resumed.—Copper's Weekly

Early Stoves.

The "Franklin" stove, which is entirely open in front, was invented by Benjamin Franklin. The older forms are portable open fireplaces, in which andirons are used; the modern ones often contain a grate and are sometimes fitted with sliding doors, by which the fire may be entirely shut in.

Two days from the Azores we were chugging through a sea which scarcely rippled, a sea bereft of any vestige of shipping beyond ourselves. For days in fact, we had seen no other vessel, for although we were on one of the regular shipping lanes it is a significant fact that the highways of the ocean are much less frequented than they were in pre-war days. J. D. Gill, writes in the Boston Transcript.

Now that we have returned to the piping times of peace, if not of plenty, we are apt to forget the war and all its ugly phases, which is perhaps all for the best.

But on this particular day we had a little reminder of the past.

Early in the forenoon word traveled around the ship that a sail was sighted. A sail, mark you, in these days is a very rare sight, for there are few indeed of the type of craft which brought England her glory, her wealth, her supremacy of sea power, and above all her heritage of love for the ocean.

So it was with eager eyes we sought for the name of the lofty-masted, graceful vessel and faint would we have read something which indicated her nationality to be British. But our worst fears were realized as we read the name "Parma" on her bow, and simultaneously with the two ships drawing abreast, her flag was hoisted over the taff rail, to be dipped in the age-old custom of the sea.

To the men who lined the rails, there was little occasion to give further reminder of the war, for the majority of us had seen service of some sort, though mostly at sea. And to those who spent weary hours watching for only the sight of a Teuton and many others who had the experience of having had their vessel sink under them without even that satisfaction, it brought back a flood of memories.

So passed the Parma of Hamburg, a gallant four-masted, square-rigged vessel, her colors flying proudly at her gaff.

Two months later, almost to the day, we were lurching along in the wake of a heavy southwest gale, off the banks of Newfoundland. Before breakfast a sail was sighted, though a vastly different type of vessel to the Parma of Hamburg. A small three-masted schooner she was, laboring heavily in the high Atlantic swell which was the result of the gale that had just passed.

A rather forlorn little vessel she seemed, struggling valiantly with the huge seas that appeared to engulf her as she was lost to sight in the trough of the swell. But she seemed to rise each time with a courage that was almost personal in its triumph over the elements, truly, we thought, a brave little vessel to pit itself against such overwhelming odds. A striking contrast from the splendor, the grandeur almost amounting to arrogance, of the Parma of Hamburg.

Hickman, Ky.—Buried under a bluff since the site was surrendered by Confederate soldiers in 1861, part of the mile-long chain, composed of 19-pound iron links that was stretched across the Mississippi river by soldiers of the South to prevent the passage of Union gunboats, has been bared at Columbus, Ky., 20 miles from here, by a landslide that hurled two acres of ground into the stream.

Sixty feet of the chain were exposed by the slide. The anchor to which the Kentucky end of the chain was attached has been dug out. Its shaft is 16 feet long and the arms 17 feet.

Hailed as one of the best musical revues ever assembled, the new edition of "Artists and Models" opens a week's engagement at the Hartman theater Columbus, Monday night, January 25. There will be matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Fifty beautiful artists' models reveal their charms in the posing scenes and musical numbers. Those girls were recruited from the foremost studios of Greenwich Village and the collection includes blondes, brunettes, ravens and Titians. In the episodes of "The Living Statues" and "The Living Palette," they wear "elephant's breath" chiffon, a new stage fabric so light in weight that the entire costume is carried in a silver vanity case.

Scenic features of "Artists and Models" include the Promenade walk, the Midnight Color Ball, the rose ballet the New Hampshire wood, and a comedy skit entitled "Truth in China."

The music is by Signund Romberg, Al Goodman and Maurie Rubens. Some of the song hits are "You Ought to Know," "My Lady's Fan," "Oh, Boy What a Girl," "Good Night" and "Follow Your Star."

LIABILITY INSURANCE

What It Is and the Benefits That Accrue to the Policy Holders.

I wonder if you realize that every car owner is responsible to the public for the operation of his car, whether he drives it himself or allows others to drive it.

PUBLIC LIABILITY is an insurance term indicating the responsibility the car owner is under for injuries or death inflicted on persons thru the operation of his car.

It is most important of all automobile insurance features, owing to the unknown possibilities of the claims.

Some of the factors making accidents and consequent liability claims daily more numerous, and the owner's risk in operating a car an ever increasing one, are:

CONGESTION OF TRAFFIC. Roads are about the same width as formerly, yet traffic thereon has greatly increased. Between fifteen and twenty million motor vehicles are registered in the United States today. This vast number is being increased daily.

LOW PRICES OF SECOND-HAND CARS have added greatly to the number of irresponsible drivers, who menace all other users of the roads. The careful, sane driver is often the sufferer from the faults of others. IMPROVED HIGHWAYS are a constant temptation to speedsters and encourage less careful attention on the part of all drivers.

THE CHILDREN MUST PLAY, and there being very little yard space around the average city home, the playing is done in the path of the motorists. The heavy tolls of 1924 in life, injuries and property losses have been given wide publicity in the press of the country.

AMBULANCE-CHASING LAWYERS (and there is one or more in every city) make a business of creating cases against any car owner involved in an accident, whether or not it is serious, whether or not he is liable and particularly if he has property.

COURT CHARGES AND ATTORNEY'S FEES MUST BE PAID, and eventually, possibly a heavy judgment to be paid with interest and costs. The feelings, sympathies and judgments of juries are generally in favor of the injured and against the car owner. Verdicts for injuries or death run into thousands of dollars, and are larger than ever before. Even if you win, your expenses mount to a large figure.

An automobile liability guarantees the investigation of claims whether you are liable or not, adjusts, pays, fights your case if necessary, pays expenses, lawyer's fees and court costs, relieves you from responsibility and worry. It does all of this for the owner and for any one legally operating the car with the owner's permission.

If you are now carrying liability insurance, the above facts will serve to strengthen the conviction that led you to protect yourself.

This information, coupled with the fact that last year no fewer than twenty-eight states introduced bills for compulsory liability insurance, is conclusive evidence of the advisability of every car owner relieving himself of personal liability.

State Director of Agriculture, Charles V. Truax, has issued a statement to retailers and consumers to an attempt to market colored butter substitutes in this state by certain concerns that are grossly misrepresenting their product.

Experiments by the state department of agriculture show them to be inferior to lard and also to the clear white vegetable frying and shortening ingredients that are sold at half the cost of this so-called "cooking compound."

Legitimate oleomargarine producers here discourage these compounds, according to officials in charge of Ohio's food inspection, since they injure the marketing of their reliable product. The department of agriculture, according to Director Truax, will strictly enforce the law prohibiting unlawful distribution of this cooking compound and wholesale and retail dealers will be prosecuted when found selling this product through misrepresentation.

Bill to Solve Crop Surplus in Congress.

Washington.—Asserting that they have the backing of more than a million farmers and business men of the corn belt, Iowa congressmen have begun a determined fight to solve the corn surplus problem by removing restrictions on the sale of corn sugar now imposed by the pure food act.

In this way they hope to build up a new market which will consume millions of bushels of corn each year and eventually take over the entire annual surplus.

There are no restrictions now on the manufacture of corn sugar, but under the pure food act, all products in which corn sugar is used must be specially branded and labeled to show that corn sugar and not beet or cane sugar was used.

In order to remove this restriction a bill has been introduced in the senate by Senator Cummins (Rep., Iowa) and in the house by Representative Cole (Rep., Iowa). The bill provides for amending the pure food law so that corn sugar products will be added to the list of articles that are not deemed misbranded if not specially labeled.

To the farmers of Iowa and Illinois, who have been forced to accept low prices for corn, largely because of the surplus, increased manufacture of corn sugar would offer a new market for larger quantities of corn. Already thousands of letters have been sent to mid-western congressmen and to the Department of Agriculture urging the immediate passage of legislation which will remove the present restrictions on the sale of corn sugar products.

The Department of Agriculture is not so sure that the proposed change in the pure food act would be a good thing. Secretary of Agriculture Jardine is giving close study to the problem, and while anxious to see the sale of corn sugar exploited, he is undecided as to whether changing the pure food law is the best way to do it.

Faile Alarm

In 1750 a fanatic predicted an earthquake in London, and thousands of people spent several nights in tents in Hyde park and other open spaces. Special prayers were said and a number of sermons were preached on the coming "disaster," but nothing out of the ordinary occurred.

Is Leader in Every Movement for Betterment of Common Lot.

Bucharest.—The World war shook many thrones, but it only served to strengthen that of Queen Marie, for to her people she is known not as the queen of Rumania but as "the mother of Rumania."

Rumania's greatest woman among her subjects is something much more than a symbol of sovereign power; she is the fountainhead of all charity, sympathy and help. Every act of benevolence, every movement for the betterment of the common lot, every inspiration for a nobler and higher life seems to center in Queen Marie, an English-Russian woman whom fate and fortune placed at the head of a Latin race.

Before the war her realm embraced less than seven million people. Today she rules over seventeen million souls, but the word "rules" is hardly applicable to Queen Marie's occupancy. She is one of the most democratic and indulgent of reigning queens, just how democratic being shown in this manner:

Scarcely had the words been spoken when Queen Marie, attired simply in a silk dressing gown and sandals, with her long golden hair flowing loosely over her shoulders, stepped forward. "I know you will excuse me for appearing in this unconventional and 'unqueenly' way," she said smilingly to the astonished correspondent, "but I'm getting ready for dinner, and as I know you called specially to see me about my views for the American people, I did not want to send you away without a few minutes' friendly chat."

While King Ferdinand is the titular head of the royal house of Rumania, Americans and others who have been to Rumania know that Marie, by reason of her vital, dominant, dynamic personality and force of character, transcends the king, who is of a shy, diffident, negative temperament. In relation to the queen he is not the ruler, but the ruled. In this respect Queen Marie inherits some of the positive, self-reliant, dominating qualities of her great ancestor, Queen Victoria. "The king, poor man," the queen told the correspondent, "is a bashful, timid soul, and I've got always to push him into the limelight."

The talents, brilliancy and versatility of Queen Marie equally make her one of the most notable world figures. One of four daughters of Prince Alfred, Duke of Edinburgh, and of Grand Duchess Marie Alexandrovna, only daughter of Czar Alexander II of Russia, she was endowed with natural beauty, charm and grace.

Most Beautiful Queen of World.
Although now past fifty years of age, she still is considered the most beautiful queen in the world. American women are captivated by her soft, youthful, regular features and her unaffected, winning manner. She is at once a womanly queen and a queenly woman. Many of her admirers have often said that her peculiar attributes of intellect, beauty, energy and popularity entitle her to be the queen of England; that her talent is wasted on a Balkan country.

Queen Marie not only possesses all the natural endowments which Americans usually associate with a queen but she is remarkably gifted as a linguist, a writer and a poetess. She speaks English, German, Rumanian, Russian, Italian, Spanish and perfect English. She has written no less than ten books on history, poetry, philosophy, fiction and the fine arts. She also has achieved marked success in painting, embroidery, designing and furniture making.

Queen Marie has given the world two other queens in the persons of her daughters, and is prepared to offer a third. They are Queen Marie of Yugoslavia, wife of King Alexander, and Queen Elizabeth of Greece, who, however, lost her crown in the revolution of 1924, which threw her young husband, King George, off the throne. The third prospective "queen" is Marie's beautiful sixteen-year-old daughter Ileana.

Larchmont, N. J.—The recent announcement from Copenhagen that the manuscript of a hitherto unpublished story by Hans Christian Andersen, famous Danish author of stories for children, had been found in the Royal library, has brought to light the possession of Dr. Viggo Drewsen of Cherry Lane, a scrapbook of approximately 100 pages, which was compiled by Andersen for Doctor Drewsen when he was three years old.

This book, three pages of which were exhibited at the International house, New York city, on April 4 when Andersen's birthday was celebrated there, was termed a "Fairy Book," by Andersen, who with the aid of Doctor Drewsen's father, fastened the volume 63 years ago. The book contains clippings from newspapers and magazines, some with comments by Andersen.

PUBLIC UTILITIES

Commission Ruling In Gas Rate Increase.

At the same time the commission set March 4 as the date for hearing protests filed by the city against the proposed increase. The rate schedules were filed Dec. 30. The city contends they are "unjust, unreasonable and discriminatory."

This Little Pig Went To Market

Thus goes an old familiar nursery rhyme. All of you know it, so we will not repeat it. Now, we do not mean to infer that we are "little pigs," but we just want to tell you that

WE, TOO, WENT TO MARKET

Friday, January 15th, we arrived in Grand Rapids, the Furniture Capital of America, with the thought of learning all we could relative to the newest patterns of furniture for this year. We also decided that we would learn all we could about the proper manner of construction of good furniture.

WE SAW MILES AND MILES

of beautiful furniture. And, folks, how we would have enjoyed taking you along with us. But, as that was impossible, we decided to do the next best thing, and so we ordered part of it shipped down here for the use of the folks about Circleville.

AN INTENSIVE COURSE IN FURNITURE MERCHANDISING

was given to those attending the market, and we took advantage of it. For five days, we attended this "school." And now, after our visit to the market, and after taking this training, we do feel that we are better fitted to render you more efficient service in your furniture buying. Bring your problems to us and we will try to solve them for you. At least, drop in and let us tell you more of what we saw and heard while

with being in control of this commission which he directs from the Deshler hotel.

I do not believe in the multiplicity of laws. I believe in the honest administration of the law we already have. We need less laws in this state. I am not a candidate for president of the United States. The present assembly tried to unload the Bible bill on me, but failed. I believe in the complete separation of church and state.

He scored the general assembly for passing the acceptance of the John Bryan farm over his head. The Taft bill also was scored and proved his contention by the defeat given the bill by the people at the polls.

Chairman Dye of the state Central Democratic committee made a short address.

He said every country in the state should hold just such banquets as these. We should rededicate ourselves to the principles and ideals of Thomas Jefferson. He claimed 80 per cent of the daily press and the five Press associations are under control and influence of the Republican party and give that party special privileges.

The stage is set for us in 1926, we will elect a United States senator governor, legislature and a full state ticket. Democracy is aroused.

Miss Allen's subject was Citizenship. She pleased the audience by her pleasant delivery, as the first state's Portia in the highest legal tribunal of the state she has done her sex a credit, and has performed the duties of her office in a manner that has commanded the respect of the legal fraternity. She told the audience that she was here as a Democrat and I know that is right. She said America is the creditor nation of the world. We must cooperate with the world if we wish to succeed and carry out the ideals of our forefathers.

Every boy should know by heart the preamble of the constitution of the United States.

The Teapot Dome, the Shenandoah catastrophe, Colonel Mitchell and the aircraft scandals were mentioned by her.

I do not believe in an aggressive war but I do believe the airplane is an ideal instrument for common defense. She favored the entrance by our government into the world court.

The Fordney-McCumber tariff bill was given a slap, as was also the manner of acquiring the Canal Zone and Panama.

Cyrus Locher, director of commerce was the fourth and last speaker, he is a good talker and made a splendid speech.

Speaking of the father of the party, Thomas Jefferson, he said that he was the inventor of the mold plow, the first importer of Merino sheep, the architect of Monticello, the author of the Bill of Rights, he abolished the law of primogeniture, the separation of church and state, the public school system and the abolition of slavery.

Jackson throttled nullification and refused a charter to the Second National bank of Washington, which then had a capital of $35,000,000 which in those times was a considerable sum. We now have 1110 banks with a capital of two billion, seven hundred and fifty million dollars. We have now 950 loan and savings banks with deposits of $850,000,000. Jackson's Civil Service reform was an outstanding feature of his term as president, his influence will live as long as that of Jefferson.

Lincoln, the emancipator, was a great Republican and will live for all time as the greatest man of his party. With the names of Washington, Jefferson, Jackson and Wilson, the Democracy will be safe and the party will have honored names to cherish.

Whenever we suffer from insomnia we try to think out good aids for editorials and in no time at all we are sound asleep.

LIBRARIES EVERYWHERE
USE SAME SYSTEM.

The card catalog system used by practically all libraries in the United States is the same.

There are three ways of finding books, viz: first, under the author's name; second, under the title of the book; third, under the subject to which the book relates.

Fiction is shelved alphabetically under the author's name.

During 1925, the number of books added to the Circleville Public Library was 723. For these books, 1,664 cards were added to the card catalog.

Now books were classified as: General works (including bound magazines) 199; Philosophy 12; Religion 16; Sociology 62; Language 20; Science 19; Useful Arts 23; Fine Arts 22; Literature 49; History (including history travel and biography) 57; Fiction 214. Total non-fiction 479.

Cincinnati—Liberated under $1,000 bail on charges of violating the prohibition laws, Common Pleas Judge Robert Patterson of Montgomery county, prepared for his arraignment Thursday.

Judge Patterson and a Dayton attorney whose name was not disclosed were arrested in a raid on a hotel room led by T. B. Jarvis, superintendent of the Cincinnati Anti-Saloon league and three dry agents.
